Ford Plans Huge Expansion, Wants 'Employment Insurance'

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry Ford II, announcing a $625 million, three-year expansion program for the Ford Motor Co., says he favors a new kind of prosperity insurance for workers.

He told the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. last night that his company's spending plans for new plants and equipment means "we are building for the future every day."

Apparently with the proposed guaranteed annual wage in mind he said the word "security" does not scare him and added:

"Perhaps what is needed is a new kind of prosperity insurance policy based on a reasonable, businesslike, pay-as-you-go plan, with limited and predictable costs."

Ford's company currently is bargaining with the CIO United Auto Workers on a union demand for a guaranteed annual wage, a guarantee of pay for so many weeks a year even if there are seasonal layoffs.

In commenting on the negotiations, Ford said:

"I'd like to make it perfectly clear that nothing I say in this connection should be interpreted as representing a Ford Motor Co. position either for or against the guaranteed annual wage."

In Detroit, Walter P. Reuther, CIO president and auto workers' head, said:

"We are prepared to discuss the soundness, the justice and the merits of our demands across the bargaining table. I hope Mr. Ford will meet his responsibility by participating in these negotiations. I hope Mr. Ford will join us at an early date."

Ford, in his talk, said he is interested in steady employment "not just because unemployment might lose me some customers."

"I realize," he said, "how much a real sense of job security would promote the psychology of optimism and well-being which will keep us moving forward at top speed.

"There's no question in my mind, then, that we should continue to explore means to so desirable an end."

But he cautioned against any rigid freezing of the labor pattern.

"I, for one," he said, "am highly impatient with some union leaders who stand resolutely against progress, who resist the introduction of new machines and methods, who seek to preserve obsolete trades and skills, who generally are wedded to the mean and miserly concept of a mature economy that's going nowhere—in short, the advocates of guaranteed annual stagnation.

"I am just as impatient with the slavish and stereotyped thinking which has led some businessmen to consider 'security' a bad word and to brand all concern for human and social progress as communism or 'creeping socialism.' I'm all for chasing the sacred cows out of the stables of business."

PREMIER OF VIET NAM DEFIES CHIEF OF STATE

Wallace Favors Korean Bonus, But Not By New Real Estate Tax

Ed Wallace, Pickaway County state representative, had some degree of encouragement for property owners today as the Ohio legislature weighed different methods to set up a bonus for Korean War veterans.

Wallace said he favors a resolution in the House Rules Committee because it provides that bonds, needed to pay the bonus, would be paid off by taking $500,000 a month out of the state's general revenue fund, raised largely by the Ohio sales tax. However, the upper house of the legislature has its own proposal for the bonus, and it would put the burden on property owners.

The Senate plan calls for submission of a constitutional amendment to the voters, asking for a $100 million dollar bond issue to pay a Korean bonus similar to the one paid by the state to veterans of World War II. The money would be raised by putting a special levy on real estate.

While there appeared to be strong support for the Senate version, there was growing doubt it could win approval at the polls with the real estate provision. Even one of the sponsors of the measure, Senator Lowell Fess of Yellow Springs, was said to be opposed to that provision.

* * *

MEANWHILE, Wallace said he feels the bonus could be paid in far more equitable manner by tapping the state's general revenue fund. House leaders are said to be opposed to this method, but Wallace said the final showdown will come on the House floor.

Anticipating arguments of those opposed to the House version when it comes out of committee, Wallace declared the state could find the money to pay the bonus "once it's clear that we have to do it." He added:

"They're always saying we don't have enough money for this, and we don't have enough money for that. But we always seem to find it when we need it."

Tobacco Growers Vote Acreage Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record turnout of burley tobacco growers has voted overwhelmingly to cut 1955 acreage up to 25 per cent below last year in return for continued price supports.

Incomplete returns from an Agriculture Department referendum yesterday showed 96 per cent of those voting favored the combination of rigid controls and price supports. A two-thirds favorable vote was required. The alternative was unlimited planting with no price supports. Incomplete figures showed a total vote of 333,053.

Sister-Slayer Gives Details Of Strangling

BUCYRUS (AP) — Frederick W. Spears, 17, of nearby Galion yesterday made his first public confession of how he strangled his sister, Patricia, 16, last Dec. 31. The youth is expected to testify again today.

His voice steady, his appearance calm, Spears took the stand at his second degree murder trial and reviewed his life from kindergarten days to the morning when Patricia was choked to death on her bed.

He had gone to her room to awaken her, Spears said, after driving his mother to work. He threw a pillow at Patricia, then another.

He recalled every detail up to that point. But about killing her? His mind is a blank, he said.

Spears' mother, Margaret, 45, wept yesterday as she testified about the "close" relationships between Fred and Patricia. Fred had dated only one girl, a friend of Patricia's, she said.

Mrs. Spears gave her son an encouraging pat on the arm as he took the witness chair.

Bethlehem Steel Very Optimistic

NEW YORK (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp. is producing steel at 100 per cent of capacity and expects to continue doing so through July, according to Board Chairman Eugene C. Grace.

"You can't get a pessimistic statement from me today," Grace told newsmen as he disclosed record-breaking first quarter figures for net income.

Bethlehem's first quarter net income was $35,313,262, or $3.51 a common share, compared with $27,802,938, or $2.73 a share, for the first quarter of 1954.

School Subsidy Bill Feared In Jeopardy

SANDUSKY (AP) — Robert W. Reider, Port Clinton publisher and former Democratic whip in the Ohio House, declared here last night that revision of the state school foundation subsidy program may get lost or mangled in a hectic rush to end the 1955 legislative session.

Reider, speaking about legislative activity dealing with education, summed up with the remark: "It stinks." He added:

"This Legislature is bogged down in trivia and May 1 will pass without passage of a single fundamental bill such as the foundation program. June will arrive and so will that end-of-session madness that is the cause of so much faulty legislation and outright dodging of issues.

"The foundation program is not alone in facing such an end. The mental health program and other social legislation are slated for the same fate."

Observing that the new subsidy program is the result of an 18-month study by the Ohio School Survey Committee, Reider declared:

"All of the sound work done by the Survey Committee can come to nothing or can be so badly mangled that it would take another basic survey to find out what happened and meanwhile another biennium will have passed."

Armco Stock Fee Of $39,525 Said Record In Ohio

COLUMBUS (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown today reported payment of a $39,525 stock filing fee by Armco Steel Corp. history.

Brown said he checked records that go back 105 years to determine that the fee was the largest ever recorded in the state.

Armco recently split its stock on a two-for-one basis. Company share holders approved an increase from 8,150,000 to 24,150,000 shares.

Under Ohio law, Brown explained, a corporation is required to pay a filing fee based on the increased number of shares authorized in amending its charter.

Armco has Ohio steel plants in Middletown, Hamilton and Zanesville and Ohio fabricating plants in Middletown, Piqua and Washington C. H.

98-Pound Woman Has Triplet Girls

NEW YORK (AP)—A Brooklyn woman, who weighs only 98 pounds, last night gave birth prematurely to triplets, all girls.

The infants, weighing a total of eight pounds and four ounces, were placed in incubators at Brooklyn Doctors Hospital. "Mother and children are doing well," a hospital spokesman said.

The proud and still bewildered parents are Burton Kaplan, 26, an unemployed salesman, and his wife, Barbara, 21.

Alvah Shasteen, Veteran Officer, Retires May 1

'Pappy' Is Awarded Disability Pension Because Of Injuries

Alvah (Pappy) Shasteen, 69, a veteran Circleville policeman since 1934, will retire from the force effective May 1 on a disability pension.

Police Chief Elmer Merriman said that he deeply regrets the loss of Shasteen, who is bowing to the wishes of his physician.

"Pappy probably had more friends than anyone in the department," Chief Merriman said. "He is one of the finest officers Circleville has ever had."

Shasteen, whose length of service is second only to that of Sgt. George Green, was seriously injured in an automobile crash several years ago. He had to take a leave of absence of more than two years as result of the accident.

* * *

SHORTLY AFTER he returned to the force, in 1953, he was promoted to sergeant. However, according to Chief Merriman, Shasteen's injuries prevented him from doing cruiser duty and he later resigned his sergeancy.

"Pappy was the quietest man on the force," Sgt. Green commented. "That sure fooled a lot of thugs who thought Pappy was soft. When Pappy went into action, it was like lightning striking."

Shasteen had his share of shootings, close scrapes and thrilling captures. One of his most memorable was the capture, years ago, of the then notorious "strip tease" gang, who made their victims disrobe.

Another concerned the time he and another officer walked into a restaurant to find two very much wanted murderers drinking coffee.

No replacement has yet been named for Shasteen, city safety director Miller Fissell said. One vacancy on the force, however, will be filled Sunday when Donald E. Adams, of 316 Logan St., is put on duty.

Adams, who replaces former officer Max Forquer, recently passed a civil service exam with three others for the policeman job.

Dr. Sam's Prosecutors Rap Findings Of Crime Expert

CLEVELAND (AP) — A spot of blood found in the bedroom of murdered Marilyn Sheppard "undoubtedly" came from the victim, the state contended today, disputing defense claims that the blood came from the bitten finger of a prowler who was the slayer.

Coroner Samuel R. Gerber attacked the findings of Dr. Paul L. Kirk, professor of criminalistics at the University of California, as "shockingly negligent and slipshod" in examining bloodstains in the murder bedroom.

Kirk, hired by attorneys for Osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard, prepared a 50-page affidavit of a private investigation he made. The affidavit was entered in a hearing last Wednesday on a new trial for the convicted wife-slayer on grounds of newly discovered evidence. The hearing was continued until next week.

Sheppard, convicted Dec. 21 of second degree murder in the July 4 slaying, has insisted a bushy haired prowler killed his 31-year-old wife and later injured him.

Kirk, backing up Sheppard's story, said he found evidence that the murder was committed by a left-handed man who was intent on a sexual assault.

The crime expert said the murdered woman bit her attacker and blood from his wounded hand showed up as a one-inch spot on a closet door in her bedroom. He said the spot and a sample of Marilyn Sheppard's blood both proved to be type O. But their varied reactions to aggultination tests indicated they came from different persons. The osteopath's blood was type A.

Coroner Gerber, challenging the findings, asserted Kirk failed to take account of contaminating elements in the blood sample scraped from the wardrobe door.

The door was sprayed with luminol by police using ultra-violet light in their investigation, Gerber said, and that might account for the variation in chemical reaction.

Kirk also failed to take account of paint scrapings that probably came off the door with the blood samples, Gerber continued.

Technicians at the coroner's office said that two samples of type O blood could not be differentiated accurately unless a sub-grouping had also been made. Kirk did not sub-group the samples, they said.

Southern Rail Strike Hinges On Lone Issue

Both the Louisville and Nashville Railroad and the 10 AFL nonoperating unions have agreed to arbitration. But they disagree on what differences are to be arbitrated. The main sore point is a health and welfare program.

Little progress toward a settlement has been reported since the strike against the L&N and two of its subsidiaries began March 14. Federal mediators and state officials have failed in efforts to iron out remaining differences.

As one source analyzes the health and welfare issue: If the unions win this demand with the L&N, other railroads must follow suit while, if the unions lose, other railroads might seek to eliminate the program from their contracts.

The unions listed these issues in their strike call:

Improved vacations with pay; seven paid holidays with double time for employes who work on holidays; hospital, medical and benefits, and life insurance equal to full-time annual earnings, with a minimum of $3,500, the railroad to pay the full cost; premium pay for Sunday work; and a standard "national free transportation" plan or system of passes for L&N employes good on all railroads.

German, French Chiefs In Parley

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay sat down together today to work out details of the French-German pact on the industrial Saarland. If they fail to agree, West German rearmament could be delayed still more.

The 988-square-mile valley of the Saar River, a region of vast coal resources and a big coal and steel industry, was German before World War II. Politically autonomous since 1953, its economy has been linked closely to France's since the end of the war. West Geramany and France have agreed the Saar would be put under the seven-nation Western European Union until a final peace treaty is concluded with Germany.

Capehart Sees Senate Backing Formosa Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) said today he thinks most Senate Republicans will back any decisions President Eisenhower makes in dealing with the Chinese Communists and the Formosa situation.

Capehart said he could not go along with his colleague Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), who proposed yesterday a resolution to put the Senate on record that no government official "may take part in any conference" which might result in the transfer of any territory to a Communist state.

Jenner's resolution, which would be merely an expression of Senate opinion, obviously was prompted by the increased prospect of some kind of talks between the United States and Communist China aimed at relaxing tensions in the Formosa Strait.

Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai suggested such talks last weekend. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have endorsed the idea, with the condition that there must be some evidence of Communist sincerity.

* * *

BRIG. GEN. Frank L. Howley, former military governor of Berlin who now is vice chancellor of New York University, yesterday termed Chou's statement an insult.

"It's a sure sign he's got something up his sleeve," Howley told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. "Either he's not ready to attack or he thinks he can get something by talk."

He said negotiating with the Communists in the Far East or elsewhere amounts to "sitting down with murderers," and added: "to the Communists a conference is a device for getting something."

Fuel Gas Utility Asking Rate Boost

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, which yesterday concluded its hearing on the company's request for a $1,095,000 annual rate increase, asked both sides to submit the memoranda by May 18. Both parties will be given until May 25 to answer each other.

The company serves commercial and industrial gas users in nine northeastern Ohio counties.

Ohio Lawyers Ask Supreme Court Rule

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio State Bar Assn. asked the Ohio Supreme Court today to take direct jurisdiction over discipline of the legal profession.

The association proposed a rule providing for the court to exercise disciplinary jurisdiction through a 15-member board of commissioners on grievances and discipline. The association wants new, tougher rules adopted.

The board would be empowered to submit recommendations to the court concerning:

1. Complaints of misconduct alleged to have been committed by any attorney or judge.

2. Practices of any attorney or judge tending to defeat the administration of justice or bring the courts or the legal profession into disrepute.

3. Petitions for reinstatement of a suspended attorney.

The Supreme Court has full authority over the state's legal profession because lawyers are officers of the court.

In the past, however, the Supreme Court has permitted lower courts to handle disbarment and reinstatement of lawyers. The high court acts only in review.

Under the proposed new procedure, the board of commissioners would be empowered to conduct investigations and preliminary hearings. Judges of the state's courts also would be subject to the new rule.

Wisconsin Dems Stage Filibuster

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Democratic senators wrote Wisconsin political history today in an admittedly hopeless filibuster on a bill that would prohibit labor unions from contributing money to political campaigns.

The eight Democrats in the 33-member Wisconsin Senate started their fight against the Republican-sponsored bill early yesterday and continued it through the early hours of today without letup.

They were determined, according to their floor leader, Sen. Henry Maier of Milwaukee, to continue the discussion indefinitely if possible in an effort to dramatize their opposition to the bill.

U.S.-Backed Diem Claims War Victory

French-Favored Bao Dai Given Brushoff By Cabinet In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem claimed victory in bloody civil strife today and defied the authority of Chief of State Bao Dai to remove him.

Diem's American-backed government, in the second day of a showdown battle with the Binh Xuyen society, said the premier was "indispensable" to the country.

Despite the victory claim, fighting which had caused casualties of perhaps 1,000 killed or wounded continued in the area between Saigon and its Chinese suburb of Cho Lon. One clash raged only four blocks from the U. S. Embassy. Fires raging the last 24 hours made thousands homeless.

The government said its shock troops had blasted the last of the Binh Xuyen from their lone remaining stronghold guarding approaches to the society's headquarters in Cho Lon. The building was reported ablaze.

In Paris, French Premier Edgar Faure declared today it is evident that the government headed by Diem is no longer equal to its task.

Officials of Diem's government for some months have accused the French privately of siding with the Binh Xuyen against Diem. The French had opposed the premier's using the national army against the society, contending that it would result in civil war.

* * *

BAO DAI, who lives on the French Riviera, summoned Diem to confer with him there by Tuesday. This was regarded as virtual dismissal for Diem. Bao Dai also ordered military authority transferred from Gen. Le Van Ty, who as army chief of staff is directing the war against the Binh Xuyen, to Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, a French-supported general opposed to Diem.

Alvah Shasteen, Veteran Officer, Retires May 1

'Pappy' Is Awarded Disability Pension Because Of Injuries

Alvah (Pappy) Shasteen, 69, a veteran Circleville policeman since 1934, will retire from the force effective May 1 on a disability pension.

Police Chief Elmer Merriman said that he deeply regrets the loss of Shasteen, who is bowing to the wishes of his physician.

"Pappy probably had more friends than anyone in the department," Chief Merriman said. "He is one of the finest officers Circleville has ever had."

* * *

SHORTLY AFTER he returned to the force, in 1953, he was promoted to sergeant. However, according to Chief Merriman, Shasteen's injuries prevented him from doing cruiser duty and he later resigned his sergeancy.

"Pappy was the quietest man on the force," Sgt. Green commented. "That sure fooled a lot of thugs who thought Pappy was soft. When Pappy went into action, it was like lightning striking."

Shasteen had his share of shootings, close scrapes and thrilling captures. One of his most memorable was the capture, years ago, of the then notorious "strip tease" gang, who made their victims disrobe.

Another concerned the time he and another officer walked into a restaurant to find two very much wanted murderers drinking coffee.

No replacement has yet been named for Shasteen, city safety director Miller Fissell said. One vacancy on the force, however, will be filled Sunday when Donald E. Adams, of 316 Logan St., is put on duty.

Adams, who replaces former officer Max Forquer, recently passed a civil service exam with three others for the policeman job.

Most Of Country Has Fair Weather

CHICAGO (AP) — Fairly pleasant and dry weather was reported in most sections of the country today.

There were only two areas of precipitation early today, in New England and in the Pacific Northwest. Heaviest amounts were in the East, with more than an inch of rain in Boston and Providence.

Coldest weather again was in the Rockies, with a low of 25 at West Yellowstone, Mont. Warmest was in southern Texas with an early morning reading of 78 in Laredo.

Dr. Sam's Prosecutors Rap Findings Of Crime Expert

CLEVELAND (AP) — A spot of blood found in the bedroom of murdered Marilyn Sheppard "undoubtedly" came from the victim, the state contended today, disputing defense claims that the blood came from the bitten finger of a prowler who was the slayer.

Coroner Samuel R. Gerber attacked the findings of Dr. Paul L. Kirk, professor of criminalistics at the University of California, as "shockingly negligent and slipshod" in examining bloodstains in the murder bedroom.

Kirk, hired by attorneys for Osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard, prepared a 50-page affidavit of a private investigation he made. The affidavit was entered in a hearing last Wednesday on a new trial for the convicted wife-slayer on grounds of newly discovered evidence. The hearing was continued until next week.

Sheppard, convicted Dec. 21 of second degree murder in the July 4 slaying, has insisted a bushy haired prowler killed his 31-year-old wife and later injured him.

Kirk, backing up Sheppard's story, said he found evidence that the murder was committed by a left-handed man who was intent on a sexual assault.

The crime expert said the murdered woman bit her attacker and blood from his wounded hand showed up as a one-inch spot on a closet door in her bedroom. He said the spot and a sample of Marilyn Sheppard's blood both proved to be type O. But their varied reactions to aggultination tests indicated they came from different persons. The osteopath's blood was type A.

Coroner Gerber, challenging the findings, asserted Kirk failed to take account of contaminating elements in the blood sample scraped from the wardrobe door.

The door was sprayed with luminol by police using ultra-violet light in their investigation, Gerber said, and that might account for the variation in chemical reaction.

Kirk also failed to take account of paint scrapings that probably came off the door with the blood samples, Gerber continued.

Technicians at the coroner's office said that two samples of type O blood could not be differentiated accurately unless a sub-grouping had also been made. Kirk did not sub-group the samples, they said.

Most Of GOP Said OKing Ike

Capehart Sees Senate Backing Formosa Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) said today he thinks most Senate Republicans will back any decisions President Eisenhower makes in dealing with the Chinese Communists and the Formosa situation.

Capehart said he could not go along with his colleague Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), who proposed yesterday a resolution to put the Senate on record that no government official "may take part in any conference" which might result in the transfer of any territory to a Communist state.

Jenner's resolution, which would be merely an expression of Senate opinion, obviously was prompted by the increased prospect of some kind of talks between the United States and Communist China aimed at relaxing tensions in the Formosa Strait.

Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai suggested such talks last weekend. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have endorsed the idea, with the condition that there must be some evidence of Communist sincerity.

* * *

BRIG. GEN. Frank L. Howley, former military governor of Berlin who now is vice chancellor of New York University, yesterday termed Chou's statement an insult.

"It's a sure sign he's got something up his sleeve," Howley told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. "Either he's not ready to attack or he thinks he can get something by talk."

He said negotiating with the Communists in the Far East or elsewhere amounts to "sitting down with murderers," and added: "to the Communists a conference is a device for getting something."

Southern Rail Strike Hinges On Lone Issue

Both the Louisville and Nashville Railroad and the 10 AFL nonoperating unions have agreed to arbitration. But they disagree on what differences are to be arbitrated. The main sore point is a health and welfare program.

Little progress toward a settlement has been reported since the strike against the L&N and two of its subsidiaries began March 14. Federal mediators and state officials have failed in efforts to iron out remaining differences.

As one source analyzes the health and welfare issue: If the unions win this demand with the L&N, other railroads must follow suit while, if the unions lose, other railroads might seek to eliminate the program from their contracts.

The unions listed these issues in their strike call:

Improved vacations with pay; seven paid holidays with double time for employes who work on holidays; hospital, medical and benefits, and life insurance equal to full-time annual earnings, with a minimum of $3,500, the railroad to pay the full cost; premium pay for Sunday work; and a standard "national free transportation" plan or system of passes for L&N employes good on all railroads.

German, French Chiefs In Parley

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay sat down together today to work out details of the French-German pact on the industrial Saarland. If they fail to agree, West German rearmament could be delayed still more.

The 988-square-mile valley of the Saar River, a region of vast coal resources and a big coal and steel industry, was German before World War II. Politically autonomous since 1953, its economy has been linked closely to France's since the end of the war. West Geramany and France have agreed the Saar would be put under the seven-nation Western European Union until a final peace treaty is concluded with Germany.

Fuel Gas Utility Asking Rate Boost

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, which yesterday concluded its hearing on the company's request for a $1,095,000 annual rate increase, asked both sides to submit the memoranda by May 18. Both parties will be given until May 25 to answer each other.

The company serves commercial and industrial gas users in nine northeastern Ohio counties.

Parley Collapses

CELINA (AP)—Negotiations were broken off last night by the New Idea division of Avco Mfg. Co., Coldwater, union members who have been on strike the last two weeks. Officials said they had turned up no basis for agreement.

Ohio Lawyers Ask Supreme Court Rule

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio State Bar Assn. asked the Ohio Supreme Court today to take direct jurisdiction over discipline of the legal profession.

The association proposed a rule providing for the court to exercise disciplinary jurisdiction through a 15-member board of commissioners on grievances and discipline. The association wants new, tougher rules adopted.

The board would be empowered to submit recommendations to the court concerning:

1. Complaints of misconduct alleged to have been committed by any attorney or judge.

2. Practices of any attorney or judge tending to defeat the administration of justice or bring the courts or the legal profession into disrepute.

3. Petitions for reinstatement of a suspended attorney.

The Supreme Court has full authority over the state's legal profession because lawyers are officers of the court.

In the past, however, the Supreme Court has permitted lower courts to handle disbarment and reinstatement of lawyers. The high court acts only in review.

Under the proposed new procedure, the board of commissioners would be empowered to conduct investigations and preliminary hearings. Judges of the state's courts also would be subject to the new rule.

Wisconsin Dems Stage Filibuster

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Democratic senators wrote Wisconsin political history today in an admittedly hopeless filibuster on a bill that would prohibit labor unions from contributing money to political campaigns.

The eight Democrats in the 33-member Wisconsin Senate started their fight against the Republican-sponsored bill early yesterday and continued it through the early hours of today without letup.

They were determined, according to their floor leader, Sen. Henry Maier of Milwaukee, to continue the discussion indefinitely if possible in an effort to dramatize their opposition to the bill.

U.S.-Backed Diem Claims War Victory

French-Favored Bao Dai Given Brushoff By Cabinet In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem claimed victory in bloody civil strife today and defied the authority of Chief of State Bao Dai to remove him.

Diem's American-backed government, in the second day of a showdown battle with the Binh Xuyen society, said the premier was "indispensable" to the country.

Despite the victory claim, fighting which had caused casualties of perhaps 1,000 killed or wounded continued in the area between Saigon and its Chinese suburb of Cho Lon. One clash lasted only four blocks from the U. S. Embassy. Fires raging the last 24 hours made thousands homeless.

The government said its shock troops had blasted the last of the Binh Xuyen from their lone remaining stronghold guarding approaches to the society's headquarters in Cho Lon. The building was reported ablaze.

In Paris, French Premier Edgar Faure declared today it is evident that the government headed by Diem is no longer equal to its task.

Officials of Diem's government for some months have accused the French privately of siding with the Binh Xuyen against Diem. The French had opposed the premier's using the national army against the society, contending that it would result in civil war.

* * *

BAO DAI, who lives on the French Riviera, summoned Diem to confer with him there by Tuesday. This was regarded as virtual dismissal for Diem. Bao Dai also ordered military authority transferred from Gen. Le Van Ty, who as army chief of staff is directing the war against the Binh Xuyen, to Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, a French-supported general opposed to Diem.

CHS Seniors Form Panel At Rotary Meeting

Four Students Give Views On Foreign Policy, Army Service

Freedom of thought was underlined as one of America's cherished principles Thursday noontime when Circleville High School seniors voiced their views and ambitions for members of the Rotary Club.

Don Greenlee, Larry Wing, James Fausnaugh and Elliott Hawkes, all seniors, served as a panel to discuss school topics and current events. It was part of Rotary's weekly program.

Asked about their plans for the future, all four students gave reasons or specializing in science and mathematics. Two expressed hopes of taking an engineering course in college. One told of his special interest in electronics. And the fourth was uncertain whether he would continue his studies into college.

By a split vote, 3 to 1, the panel was in favor of lowering the voting age to 18. "If you're old enough to fight, you're old enough to vote", a spokesman for the majority said.

* * *

MEMBERS of the group said they feel that two years of military service may be beneficial to a student, if the training could be given before the student begins his college studies.

America's foreign relations policy came in for some critical jibes from the graduates-to-be. The seniors said they feel that the United States:

1. Has "too many irons in the fire" around the globe.

2. Is giving too much aid to foreign countries "without return on the investment."

3. Has given so much financial aid abroad that too many foreign countries are becoming "lazy", looking forward to Uncle Sam's assistance.

The view was also expressed that the United States comes out on the short end too often when dealing with Great Britain.

Dr. Goldschmidt To Be Nominated As Elks Trustee

Dr. David Goldschmidt, of Circleville, was to be nominated for trustee today at the State Elks Convention in Columbus.

He is already 3rd vice-president of the state association and active in Elks work. The convention will end Saturday night with a Youth Awards Banquet.

Miss Sidney Graves, of Pickaway Township, and Byron Carter, of Jackson Township, will be awarded $25 savings bonds at the banquet. They were the local winners in the Elks Leadership Contest.

Paul Betz is scheduled to nominate Dr. Goldschmidt for the important state post. Local delegates who will be on hand include: Wallace Crist, Dave MacDonald, Andrew Thomas, Clydus Fausnaugh and Russ Valentine.

Extended Five-Day Weather Forecast

Temperatures will average three to four degrees above normal. Normal maximum 64-69; normal minimum 43 to 47 Cooler tonight and Saturday followed by warmer Sunday and Monday. Generally fair weather with showers likely about Monday and Tuesday.

Mary Haworth's Column To Deal In Plain Talk And Honest Advice

"Mary Haworth's Mail", the widely discussed column which will start Monday in The Herald, has a special appeal for those who like honest advice.

One writer has said that Miss Haworth's column represents the "journalistic coming of age of the lovelorn column." But Katherine Brush, on the other hand, said her column "is no more a lovelorn column than Lippman's is a gossip column." However you describe her writing, one thing seems certain: the dominant trait in it is Miss Haworth's penchant for speaking loudly and carrying a big stick.

"You are a horridly ill-mannered, selfish, slothfully inclined person," she wrote to one correspondent. To another: "Your daughter's performance . . . is that of a girl who is going to the dogs — at high speed." To another: "Your husband's encroaching predilection for ganging up with a stag party . . . is spendthrift carousing."

The trim, gray-haired woman who deals these knockout punches was born the fourth of eight children of John and Anne Reardon, farming people, in Riverside, O. Whisking through grammer and high school in Wilmington, she then attended Wilmington College in the evenings and worked as a reporter on the Wilmington News-Journal during the days.

* * *

BEFORE SHE turned reporter, she was an "office girl" on the Wilmington paper. "I wanted to do everything that everyone else did, in addition to my own work," she says, grinning. "I astonished my boss one December day by rustling up almost a page of classified advertising—just to see if I could."

After three years, Mary took off for Columbus, O., where she edited a suburban weekly for two years, or until the paper changed hands and "I was let out in favor of the new owner's favorite girl friend." Mary took a job with the ad staff of The Ohio State Journal, moved from there to the Lima Daily News, married in 1930, quit her job and went to Washington, D. C., to live.

The marriage went on the rocks in 1933, ending later in divorce—in her column, Mary calls divorce "social surgery" and "a desperate remedy for sick relationship" — and she took a job as feature writer on the Washington Post. Early in 1934, she became assistant woman's editor (which post she still holds, theoretically, though her column now takes all her time) and by summer of that year, she had begun her now-famous column. She says "It just fell into my lap."

After four years, the column was found to be the most widely-read in Washington's five daily papers—and that meant bucking Lippman, Clapper, Pyle, Dorothy Thompson, Eleanor Roosevelt, et al. Recent surveys show that this healthy state of affairs still exists; Miss Haworth remains tops among the columnists.

Mary Haworth works, like a businesswoman, at the office — from around 12 noon to 8 p. m. Her phone rings all day long, and she patiently answers it, but she never answers letters individually, preferring to pick one a day for her column and answering it in print. She is a machine-gun talker, smokes cigarettes in a black holder, wears rose nail polish and harlequin eyeglasses and doesn't like to go out much socially.

And as for her fans — they are legion. In 1940, for instance, the Department of Agriculture Graduate School, of all places, voted her its favorite columnist, and later six hundred Catholic University coeds voted her one of the three women they wanted to have talk to them (Schiaparelli and Madame Perkins were the others).

IN 1938, she was named one of the Annapolis midshipmen's four "most interesting people,' and second classmen even decreed her column as required reading for plebes, who at any time could be called on to recite it.

Perhaps the Rev. Howard S. Anderson, a Washington clergyman, man, summed her up best:

"The comprehensiveness of her interest and wisdom is a constant source of marvel and admiration to me. Her comments run the gamut of human needs."

Collins Hurrying Back To Saigon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Special Ambassador J. Lawton Collins hurried back today to his post in South Viet Nam where a civil war between government and rebel forces is raging.

He wound up a week of urgent review of the Vietnamese outlook with a farewell conference with Secretary of State Dulles.

As he left by plane, Collins was understood to be under instruction to continue supporting the government of Premier Ngo Diem, which is locked in a bloody battle with the rebel Binh Xuyen society.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MRS. CLIFTON SHOOK

Edna Shook of Tarlton died at 7:30 a. m. Friday in Berger Hospital.

Mrs. Shook was born May 18, 1891 in Chillicothe, a daughter of James and Minnie Forquer. She was a member of the Tarlton Methodist church, the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the church, and of the Royal Neighbors Lodge.

She was preceded in death by her first husband, Frank Oliver.

Surviving her are her husband, Clifton D. Shook of Tarlton; two brothers, Frank Forquer of Columbus and John Forquer of Kingston; a stepson, Thomas J. Shook, and three stepdaughters, Mrs. Oda Wallace, Mrs. Laura Roth and Mrs. Lorraine Bachmann, all of Cincinnati.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by the Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

MRS. ROBERT BUCK

Funeral services and burial of a former Circleville native, Lizzie Buck, will be held Friday afternoon. Interment will be in Forest Cemetery here following the 2 p. m. services in Washington C. H.

Mrs. Buck, 95, died in WCH earlier this week after having been seriously ill for only a day. She had been in failing health for several years.

She and her husband, who preceded her in death, settled in WCH half a century ago and started a greenhouse. It has since grown into a large business there.

Mrs. Buck was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Davenport. Closest surviving relatives include a niece, Mrs. John Turner, of Boston, Mass., and a nephew, George Davenport Kratz, of Greenwich, Conn.

A constant companion of Mrs. Buck is a native of Denmark, Mrs. Ragna Stenmar, who made her home with Mrs. Buck.

Mrs. Buck was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of WCH. Funeral services are in charge of the Gerstner Funeral Home in WCH.

MRS. A. E. HERRNSTEIN

Martha Herrnstein, 71, of Chillicothe died at 12:12 p. m. Thursday in Chillicothe Hospital, following a stroke.

Mrs. Herrnstein was born in Circleville, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Given. She and her husband, Albert E. Herrnstein, would have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in August.

Surviving her in addition to her husband are: a daughter, Mrs. Herman Hildner of Chillicothe; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Given Hedges of 316 Watt St. and Mrs. Grace Ferguson of Columbus; a brother, Ralph Given of Circleville, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Saturday in the Ware Funeral Home of Chillicothe, with burial in the Chillicothe Cemetery.

CARL MERZ

Word has been received in Circleville of the death of Carl Merz Thursday in the Soldiers State Hospital in Sandusky.

Mr. Merz was born May 13, 1899 in the Circleville community, a son of John and Matida Doering Merz.

Among the survivors are three nieces, Miss Margie Merz, Mrs. Alfred Ogan and Mrs. Manley Smith, all of Circleville.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at the hospital.

1. Has "too many irons in the fire" around the globe.

2. Is giving too much aid to foreign countries "without return on the investment."

3. Has given so much financial aid abroad that too many foreign countries are becoming "lazy", looking forward to Uncle Sam's assistance.

The view was also expressed that the United States comes out on the short end too often when dealing with Great Britain.

Dr. Goldschmidt To Be Nominated As Elks Trustee

Dr. David Goldschmidt, of Circleville, was to be nominated for trustee today at the State Elks Convention in Columbus.

He is already 3rd vice-president of the state association and active in Elks work. The convention will end Saturday night with a Youth Awards Banquet.

Miss Sidney Graves, of Pickaway Township, and Byron Carter, of Jackson Township, will be awarded $25 savings bonds at the banquet. They were the local winners in the Elks Leadership Contest.

Paul Betz is scheduled to nominate Dr. Goldschmidt for the important state post. Local delegates who will be on hand include: Wallace Crist, Dave MacDonald, Andrew Thomas, Clydus Fausnaugh and Russ Valentine.

Extended Five-Day Weather Forecast

Temperatures will average three to four degrees above normal. Normal maximum 64-69; normal minimum 43 to 47 Cooler tonight and Saturday followed by warmer Sunday and Monday. Generally fair weather with showers likely about Monday and Tuesday.

Wilmington Judge Eyes Kearns Case

COLUMBUS (AP) — Frank H. Kearns' professional career as Franklin County prosecutor hung at fate in the hands of one man.

That man is Common Pleas Judge Charles R. Kirk of Clinton County, who for the last four days has been hearing testimony on whether Kearns had knowingly obstructed justice by misleading Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds in recommending two accused forgers be freed. The two were subsequently reindicted.

Judge Kirk took the case under advisement. He said he didn't know when he would reach a decision.

Mary Haworth's Column To Deal In Plain Talk And Honest Advice

"Mary Haworth's Mail", the widely discussed column which will start Monday in The Herald, has a special appeal for those who like honest advice.

One writer has said that Miss Haworth's column represents the "journalistic coming of age of the lovelorn column." But Katherine Brush, on the other hand, said her column "is no more a lovelorn column than Lippman's is a gossip column." However you describe her writing, one thing seems certain: the dominant trait in it is Miss Haworth's penchant for speaking loudly and carrying a big stick.

"You are a horridly ill-mannered, selfish, slothfully inclined person," she wrote to one correspondent. To another: "Your daughter's performance . . . is that of a girl who is going to the dogs — at high speed." To another: "Your husband's encroaching predilection for ganging up with a stag party . . . is spendthrift carousing."

The trim, gray-haired woman who deals these knockout punches was born the fourth of eight children of John and Anne Reardon, farming people, in Riverside, O. Whisking through grammer and high school in Wilmington, she then attended Wilmington College in the evenings and worked as a reporter on the Wilmington News-Journal during the days.

* * *

BEFORE SHE turned reporter, she was an "office girl" on the Wilmington paper. "I wanted to do everything that everyone else did, in addition to my own work," she says, grinning. "I astonished my boss one December day by rustling up almost a page of classified advertising—just to see if I could."

After three years, Mary took off for Columbus, O., where she edited a suburban weekly for two years, or until the paper changed hands and "I was let out in favor of the new owner's favorite girl friend." Mary took a job with the ad staff of The Ohio State Journal, moved from there to the Lima Daily News, married in 1930, quit her job and went to Washington, D. C., to live.

The marriage went on the rocks in 1933, ending later in divorce—in her column, Mary calls divorce "social surgery" and "a desperate remedy for sick relationship" — and she took a job as feature writer on the Washington Post. Early in 1934, she became assistant woman's editor (which post she still holds, theoretically, though her column now takes all her time) and by summer of that year, she had begun her now-famous column. She says "It just fell into my lap."

After four years, the column was found to be the most widely-read in Washington's five daily papers—and that meant bucking Lippman, Clapper, Pyle, Dorothy Thompson, Eleanor Roosevelt, et al. Recent surveys show that this healthy state of affairs still exists; Miss Haworth remains tops among the columnists.

Mary Haworth works, like a businesswoman, at the office — from around 12 noon to 8 p. m. Her phone rings all day long, and she patiently answers it, but she never answers letters individually, preferring to pick one a day for her column and answering it in print. She is a machine-gun talker, smokes cigarettes in a black holder, wears rose nail polish and harlequin eyeglasses and doesn't like to go out much socially.

And as for her fans — they are legion. In 1940, for instance, the Department of Agriculture Graduate School, of all places, voted her its favorite columnist, and later six hundred Catholic University coeds voted her one of the three women they wanted to have talk to them (Schiaparelli and Madame Perkins were the others).

IN 1938, she was named one of the Annapolis midshipmen's four "most interesting people,' and second classmen even decreed her column as required reading for plebes, who at any time could be called on to recite it.

Perhaps the Rev. Howard S. Anderson, a Washington clergyman, man, summed her up best:

"The comprehensiveness of her interest and wisdom is a constant source of marvel and admiration to me. Her comments run the gamut of human needs."

Collins Hurrying Back To Saigon

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MRS. CLIFTON SHOOK

Edna Shook of Tarlton died at 7:30 a. m. Friday in Berger Hospital.

Mrs. Shook was born May 18, 1891 in Chillicothe, a daughter of James and Minnie Forquer. She was a member of the Tarlton Methodist church, the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the church, and of the Royal Neighbors Lodge.

She was preceded in death by her first husband, Frank Oliver.

Surviving her are her husband, Clifton D. Shook of Tarlton; two brothers, Frank Forquer of Columbus and John Forquer of Kingston; a stepson, Thomas J. Shook, and three stepdaughters, Mrs. Oda Wallace, Mrs. Laura Roth and Mrs. Lorraine Bachmann, all of Cincinnati.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by the Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

MRS. ROBERT BUCK

Funeral services and burial of a former Circleville native, Lizzie Buck, will be held Friday afternoon. Interment will be in Forest Cemetery here following the 2 p. m. services in Washington C. H.

Mrs. Buck, 95, died in WCH earlier this week after having been seriously ill for only a day. She had been in failing health for several years.

She and her husband, who preceded her in death, settled in WCH half a century ago and started a greenhouse. It has since grown into a large business there.

Mrs. Buck was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Davenport. Closest surviving relatives include a niece, Mrs. John Turner, of Boston, Mass., and a nephew, George Davenport Kratz, of Greenwich, Conn.

A constant companion of Mrs. Buck is a native of Denmark, Mrs. Ragna Stenmar, who made her home with Mrs. Buck.

Mrs. Buck was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of WCH. Funeral services are in charge of the Gerstner Funeral Home in WCH.

MRS. A. E. HERRNSTEIN

Martha Herrnstein, 71, of Chillicothe died at 12:12 p. m. Thursday in Chillicothe Hospital, following a stroke.

Mrs. Herrnstein was born in Circleville, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Given. She and her husband, Albert E. Herrnstein, would have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in August.

Surviving her in addition to her husband are: a daughter, Mrs. Herman Hildner of Chillicothe; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Given Hedges of 316 Watt St. and Mrs. Grace Ferguson of Columbus; a brother, Ralph Given of Circleville, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Saturday in the Ware Funeral Home of Chillicothe, with burial in the Chillicotne Cemetery.

CARL MERZ

Word has been received in Circleville of the death of Carl Merz Thursday in the Soldiers State Hospital in Sandusky.

Mr. Merz was born May 13, 1899 in the Circleville community, a son of John and Matida Doering Merz.

Among the survivors are three nieces, Miss Margie Merz, Mrs. Alfred Ogan and Mrs. Manley Smith, all of Circleville.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at the hospital.

'Health And Welfare' Looms Important Phrase For Fund

Words Important In Deciding Eligible Groups; Participation By Salvation Army Seems Sure

The phrase, "health and welfare", will probably have to undergo a fine-tooth interpretation during the next two weeks before the brand-new Pickaway County Community Fund can begin building toward its first campaign next Fall.

The three important words appear in that section of a proposed constitution which seeks to define which groups are eligible to join the Fund organization. And spokesmen for the Pickaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross have indicated they want the phrase thoroughly explained before the big agency agrees to participate.

It has long been recognized that participation by the Red Cross locally would enable the new Fund setup to gain momentum rapidly. However, the Fund is already proceeding under a "full steam ahead" policy, regardless of the number of member groups. Six groups, including the Red Cross, are "interested' and apparently willing to join.

The whole picture will be knit much closer for the Fund at a meeting scheduled here on May 19. At that meeting, the proposed constitution will probably be up for a vote in order to incorporate the organization. And the phrase in the eligibility section is certain to draw close attention before the constitution can be approved.

* * *

WHILE LOCAL Red Cross officials have yet to say so publicly, the spotlight they have placed on the phrase is taken to mean they may object to at least one group planning to seek membership.

Criticism of the Community Fund (or United Appeals) plan is often based on the claim that substandard organizations try to climb aboard and gain a porportionate share of the money raised.

Ed Grigg, chairman of a steering committee which guided the formal launching, presided at the recent meeting held for that purpose .Representing the local Red Cross at that gathering, Charles Gray asked Grigg for a preliminary interpretation of the phrase "health and welfare."

Grigg explained it was not within his authority as tentative leader of the Fund at that time to give an interpretation on such important wording, inferring it will come with final action on the constitution as a whole. Grigg did point out, however, that much of the Fund's outline so far has been guided by the highly successful Fund operating in Mt. Vernon.

And as a possible aid toward clarification of the phrase, he reviewed the type of organizations covered by the Fund in Mt. Vernon. The Fund in that city includes:

The Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Hannah Browning Home (local Mt. Vernon charity), Salvation Army, Red Cross, YMCA, Youth Council, Central Ohio Heart Association, South Vernon Youth League, United Defense Fund, 20th Century Club (local Mt. Vernon), American Cancer Society, and the Knox County Mental and Social Hygiene Association.

* * *

PICKAWAY COUNTY officials of the Heart Fund and Cancer Crusade have yet to indicate a willingness to join the Fund now under way here. Other large agencies are also outside the fold.

At least two of the big agencies still silent on participation here are known to have asked for the permission of their national headquarters to join the Pickaway County group. And a firm refusal reportedly was the reply in both cases.

Meanwhile, a regional official of the Salvation Army who attended the launching meeting here gave high encouragement to Fund officials, even though he stressed he was not authorized to announce participation. That, he explained, can only come after the proposed constitution and other details of the local setup are processed through national headquarters of the Salvation Army.

The big organization, however, appeared likely to be among the official members of the Pickaway County Fund when the membership is finally nailed down for the first drive next Fall. The Army spokesman explained that his organization would expect that it could be a member of the Fund and still be permitted to sell its pamphlet, "War Cry", around Circleville on Saturday nights.

There was no indication that this stipulation would draw protests. Several of those at the launching meeting drew attention to the difference in independent solicitations and the sale of periodicals and the like, for which "a material return is received."

Roy Marshall, also among those who helped set the Fund on its feet here, has pointed out that the Fund setup is "nothing new", and that it must not be regarded as an untried experiment in Pickaway County. He drew attention to the success of Fund groups all over the nation.

* * *

MARSHALL likewise has commented that the Red Cross, with the experience and know-how of its vast organization behind it, would prove a tremendous factor in helping a Fund setup get off on the right foot in Pickaway County.

Along with Grigg and Marshall, a large body of other civic leaders share in the credit for helping steer the Fund through its preliminary stages here. Frank Barnhill served as vice-chairman of the steering committee led by Grigg.

"One wheel of the tractor kept moving toward me," he related. "It was heading straight for my chest and just a few inches away when Dickie shut off the ignition."

Sales Tax Data Gains For 8th Straight Week

Sales tax collections of $3,386,020 from the sale of prepaid tax receipts for the week ending April 16, 1955, exceeded collections of $2,994,572 for the corresponding week in 1954 by $391,448, or 13.07 percent, State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy reported today. Sales tax data reflects trade volume.

This marks the eighth consecutive week in which these weekly revenues have totalled more than $3 million. Substantial gains have been recorded in the Pickaway County totals during this long uptrend.

The sub-classification of motor vehicle sales continued to register a sizable gain with collections of $1,180,480, which amount represents an increase of $378,841, or 47.26 percent over its total for the same week last year.

Other weekly gains were $13,973, or 8.14 percent in food; $1,489, or .47 percent in department and general stores; $408,030, or 44.1 percent in the automotive group; $58,020, or 21.41 percent in building; and $27,265, or 6.51 percent in the miscellaneous classification.

* * *

TRACY SAID that the cumulative grand total collections from prepaid tax receipts and other collections from last July 1, when the fiscal year began, to date, now stand at $156,191,483.

This amount is $3,452,480, or 2.26 per cent greater than the over-all grand total collections of $152,739,003 registered on April 17, 1954.

New U.S. Air Defense Boss Likes To Make Own Tests

TOKYO (AP)—At Dayton, Ohio, last year a tall, lean, soft-spoken general climbed into the cockpit of a captured Russian-built MIG jet fighter plane.

Off he took, and for the next half hour he rocketed that MIG through the Ohio skies.

"I wanted to see what it could do," the general said after a perfect landing.

That's the way he operates—Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of the Far East Air Forces, who on June 1 becomes the new continental air defense commander in the United States.

In the Korean War, as commander of the 5th Air Force, he racked up more than 300 combat hours in one year flying over Communist lines, seeing what the enemy was doing and assessing the damage wrought by U.S. air raids.

To his new job of protecting the United States from enemy air attack, Partridge takes years of experience in air combat, command, administration and in research and development of new planes and weapons.

He was an enlisted infantry engineer in World War I. Then he went to West Point. Since 1925 he has been an Air Force pilot. He has flown all combat planes the Air Force has in operation, including the six-jet B47 Stratojet bomber.

In 1936 he was a test pilot at Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton. In World War II he served in Africa and then commanded the 8th Air Force in England and on Okinawa.

In 1952 and 1953 he was head of the Air Research and Development Command. He used World War II combat experience and Korean War experience in directing design and development of many of the Air Force's top aircraft of today as well as guided missiles.

As Far East Air Forces commander, he has stressed constant alertness and extreme mobility of Air Force units against surprise attack. That includes:

1. An early warning network to sound an instant alarm if unfriendly planes approach the outer perimeter of defense.

2. The deadliest U.S. interceptors based where they can knock down invaders before they get within striking distance.

3. Waves of long-range bombers capable of knocking out enemy airfields.

4. Ground and operations crews ready to move an entire Air Force base at a moment's notice.

In the critical period just before the Tachen Island evacuation, Air Force Sabre Jets moved from the Philippines and Okinawa to Formosa. They were flying missions an hour after they arrived.

By the time those Sabres were back from their first missions, huge C124 Globemaster transport planes had landed with maintenance crews and equipment.

In less than 24 hours, two airfields in Formosa had been turned into effective operational Sabre bases.

Zanesville Bomb Hoaxer Calls Again

She phoned Mrs. Stanley Fountain, wife of the South Zanesville police chief, and said "something is going to happen at the Muskingum County courthouse at 1 p. m." Nothing did. She had previously warned six other stores and a TV station of bomb plots.

And the phrase in the eligibility section is certain to draw close attention before the constitution can be approved.

* * *

WHILE LOCAL Red Cross officials have yet to say so publicly, the spotlight they have placed on the phrase is taken to mean they may object to at least one group planning to seek membership.

Criticism of the Community Fund (or United Appeals) plan is often based on the claim that substandard organizations try to climb aboard and gain a porportionate share of the money raised.

Ed Grigg, chairman of a steering committee which guided the formal launching, presided at the recent meeting held for that purpose .Representing the local Red Cross at that gathering, Charles Gray asked Grigg for a preliminary interpretation of the phrase "health and welfare."

Grigg explained it was not within his authority as tentative leader of the Fund at that time to give an interpretation on such important wording, inferring it will come with final action on the constitution as a whole. Grigg did point out, however, that much of the Fund's outline so far has been guided by the highly successful Fund operating in Mt. Vernon.

And as a possible aid toward clarification of the phrase, he reviewed the type of organizations covered by the Fund in Mt. Vernon. The Fund in that city includes:

The Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Hannah Browning Home (local Mt. Vernon charity), Salvation Army, Red Cross, YMCA, Youth Council, Central Ohio Heart Association, South Vernon Youth League, United Defense Fund, 20th Century Club (local Mt. Vernon), American Cancer Society, and the Knox County Mental and Social Hygiene Association.

* * *

PICKAWAY COUNTY officials of the Heart Fund and Cancer Crusade have yet to indicate a willingness to join the Fund now under way here. Other large agencies are also outside the fold.

At least two of the big agencies still silent on participation here are known to have asked for the permission of their national headquarters to join the Pickaway County group. And a firm refusal reportedly was the reply in both cases.

Meanwhile, a regional official of the Salvation Army who attended the launching meeting here gave high encouragement to Fund officials, even though he stressed he was not authorized to announce participation. That, he explained, can only come after the proposed constitution and other details of the local setup are processed through national headquarters of the Salvation Army.

The big organization, however, appeared likely to be among the official members of the Pickaway County Fund when the membership is finally nailed down for the first drive next Fall. The Army spokesman explained that his organization would expect that it could be a member of the Fund and still be permitted to sell its pamphlet, "War Cry", around Circleville on Saturday nights.

There was no indication that this stipulation would draw protests. Several of those at the launching meeting drew attention to the difference in independent solicitations and the sale of periodicals and the like, for which "a material return is received."

Roy Marshall, also among those who helped set the Fund on its feet here, has pointed out that the Fund setup is "nothing new", and that it must not be regarded as an untried experiment in Pickaway County. He drew attention to the success of Fund groups all over the nation.

* * *

MARSHALL likewise has commented that the Red Cross, with the experience and know-how of its vast organization behind it, would prove a tremendous factor in helping a Fund setup get off on the right foot in Pickaway County.

Along with Grigg and Marshall, a large body of other civic leaders share in the credit for helping steer the Fund through its preliminary stages here. Frank Barnhill served as vice-chairman of the steering committee led by Grigg.

Farm Boy, 11, Rescues Father

BALLWIN, Mo. (AP)—"I wouldn't be here today if it weren't for that freckle-faced boy of mine."

Raymond Hendrix, 39, was describing from a hospital bed how his 11-year-old son, Richard, saved his life by stopping an out-of-control tractor and applying a tourniquet to his injured arm.

The tractor suddenly reared straight up and crashed upside down, pinning Hendrix.

"One wheel of the tractor kept moving toward me," he related. "It was heading straight for my chest and just a few inches away when Dickie shut off the ignition."

Sales Tax Data Gains For 8th Straight Week

Sales tax collections of $3,386,020 from the sale of prepaid tax receipts for the week ending April 16, 1955, exceeded collections of $2,994,572 for the corresponding week in 1954 by $391,448, or 13.07 percent, State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy reported today. Sales tax data reflects trade volume.

This marks the eighth consecutive week in which these weekly revenues have totalled more than $3 million. Substantial gains have been recorded in the Pickaway County totals during this long uptrend.

The sub-classification of motor vehicle sales continued to register a sizable gain with collections of $1,180,480, which amount represents an increase of $378,841, or 47.26 percent over its total for the same week last year.

Other weekly gains were $13,973, or 8.14 percent in food; $1,489, or .47 percent in department and general stores; $408,030, or 44.1 percent in the automotive group; $58,020, or 21.41 percent in building; and $27,265, or 6.51 percent in the miscellaneous classification.

* * *

TRACY SAID that the cumulative grand total collections from prepaid tax receipts and other collections from last July 1, when the fiscal year began, to date, now stand at $156,191,483.

This amount is $3,452,480, or 2.26 per cent greater than the over-all grand total collections of $152,739,003 registered on April 17, 1954.

New U.S. Air Defense Boss Likes To Make Own Tests

TOKYO (AP)—At Dayton, Ohio, last year a tall, lean, soft-spoken general climbed into the cockpit of a captured Russian-built MIG jet fighter plane.

Off he took, and for the next half hour he rocketed that MIG through the Ohio skies.

"I wanted to see what it could do," the general said after a perfect landing.

That's the way he operates—Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of the Far East Air Forces, who on June 1 becomes the new continental air defense commander in the United States.

In the Korean War, as commander of the 5th Air Force, he racked up more than 300 combat hours in one year flying over Communist lines, seeing what the enemy was doing and assessing the damage wrought by U.S. air raids.

To his new job of protecting the United States from enemy air attack, Partridge takes years of experience in air combat, command, administration and in research and development of new planes and weapons.

He was an enlisted infantry engineer in World War I. Then he went to West Point. Since 1925 he has been an Air Force pilot. He has flown all combat planes the Air Force has in operation, including the six-jet B47 Stratojet bomber.

In 1936 he was a test pilot at Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton. In World War II he served in Africa and then commanded the 8th Air Force in England and on Okinawa.

In 1952 and 1953 he was head of the Air Research and Development Command. He used World War II combat experience and Korean War experience in directing design and development of many of the Air Force's top aircraft of today as well as guided missiles.

As Far East Air Forces commander, he has stressed constant alertness and extreme mobility of Air Force units against surprise attack. That includes:

1. An early warning network to sound an instant alarm if unfriendly planes approach the outer perimeter of defense.

2. The deadliest U.S. interceptors based where they can knock down invaders before they get within striking distance.

3. Waves of long-range bombers capable of knocking out enemy airfields.

4. Ground and operations crews ready to move an entire Air Force base at a moment's notice.

In the critical period just before the Tachen Island evacuation, Air Force Sabre Jets moved from the Philippines and Okinawa to Formosa. They were flying missions an hour after they arrived.

By the time those Sabres were back from their first missions, huge C124 Globemaster transport planes had landed with maintenance crews and equipment.

In less than 24 hours, two airfields in Formosa had been turned into effective operational Sabre bases.

Zanesville Bomb Hoaxer Calls Again

She phoned Mrs. Stanley Fountain, wife of the South Zanesville police chief, and said "something is going to happen at the Muskingum County courthouse at 1 p. m." Nothing did. She had previously warned six other stores and a TV station of bomb plots.

Jehoshaphat's Righteous Leadership

HE TAUGHT HIS PEOPLE TO TRUST IN GOD AND BE TRUE TO HIM

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

JEHOSHAPHAT, son of Asa, came to the throne of Judah after the death of his father in 870 B.C., when he was 35 years old. The first thing he did, according to Chronicles II, was to strengthen Judah against Israel, the northern kingdom which consisted of the 10 tribes which had revolted against Rehoboam.

"And the Lord was with Jehoshaphat because he walked in the first ways of his father David, and sought not unto Baalim. But sought to the Lord God of his father, and walked in His commandments, and not after the doings of Israel." Israel was still worshipping false gods.

So Jehoshaphat's kingdom was established, and all his people brought gifts to him and he had riches and honor. He took away the high places and groves out of Judah. Then, to bring his people individually to the Lord, he instituted a revival, sending out princes, among them Benhail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel and Michaiah, to teach in the cities of Judah.

These missionaries carried with them the book of the law of the Lord—undoubtedly the first five books of the Old Testament, which we call the Pentateuch. They taught the people, so that "the fear of the Lord fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands about Judah, so that they made no war against Jehoshaphat."

Jehoshaphat also built castles and cities and organized a great army, so large that some historians have doubted that little Judah could raise so many "mighty men of valor."

As fine a man as this king was, he made one grave mistake, he allowed King Ahab of Israel to persuade him to join in warring on Syria. Ahab wanted to regain some of the lands that had been taken from him by the Syrians. Jehoshaphat had gone to visit Ahab for the first time, although approximately 80 years had passed since the division of the kingdom, that the rulers had any official communication with each other.

Jehoshaphat suggested that they consult the prophets to discover if they would have the Lord's approval for this war. Ahab called 400 prophets and all said that the war was justified and approved of Jehovah.

Jehoshaphat was not satisfied, and asked if they did not have one prophet of the Lord whom they could consult. Ahab said there was one, Micaiah, but he always foretold evil for Ahab and the king hated him.

They sent for him, however, and he, being warned to agree with Ahab, at first agreed with the 400. The king was not satisfied, and told the prophet that he wanted him to tell the truth. Then Micaiah told of his visions of the Lord, who told him that Ahab should certainly not war with Syria and if he did it would be a disaster.

Ahab was so enraged with the prophecy that he had the prophet imprisoned. As he was taken away Micaiah said to Ahab, "If thou certainly return in peace, then hath not the Lord spoken by me."

Ahab was evidently frightened by Micaiah's words, so much so that he did what few if any rulers would, disguised himself, and persuaded Jehoshaphat to wear his clothing. The Syrian ruler commanded his soldiers to kill no one but Ahab, and at first they were deceived into thinking Jehoshaphat was he and they pursued him. Finding he was the wrong man, they desisted. A Syrian archer, however, took what we might call a "pot shot" with his bow and the arrow pierced Ahab's armor, wounding him mortally.

Jehoshaphat returned to Jerusalem in peace, and was chided by Hanani the seer for taking part in this war. He had offended the Lord, said the seer. However, Jehovah found good things in the king, implying that He would overlook his transgression.

If the lesson was not so long, we would like to comment at length on the king's appointment of judges and his wise counsel to them. This passage—from II Chronicles 19:5-11—should be studied earnestly by the older pupils especially. There is much wisdom and instruction in them.

Now we come to the last dramatic incident in the lesson—the invasion of Judah by the Moabites and Ammonites. Jehoshaphat gathered his people together, "all Judah, with their little ones, their wives and their children," at Jerusalem and prayed fervently to the Lord to help them.

To the prophet Jahaziel came the spirit of the Lord saying that Judah need not be afraid; they need not fight a battle, "Stand ye still, and see the salvation of the Lord with you, O Judah." The king bowed his head to the ground and all his people did likewise, and worshipped. Early next morning they went forth into the wilderness to meet the enemy.

Jehoshaphat consulted with his people and then appointed singers who would sing of the beauty of holiness and praise the Lord for His goodness. The singers went out before the army and began to sing. The Lord caused the inhabitants of Seir to ambush the Moabites and Ammonites, and they were utterly destroyed, so that from the watch tower Judah could see nothing but bodies of the dead.

Then indeed did Judah praise the Lord, pouring into Jerusalem with psalteries and harps and trumpets to thank Him for His mercies.

Jehoshaphat's Righteous Leadership ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—II Chronicles 17-20.

King Asa died and his son Jehoshaphat reigned in Judah. The Lord was with him and established the kingdom in his hand. All Judah brought presents to Jehoshaphat, and he had great riches and honors.

In the third year of his reign, King Jehoshaphat sent princes to teach in the cities of Judah. They went throughout all the cities of Judah, having the book of the law of Jehovah with them, and they taught among the people.

King Ahab of Israel asked Jehoshaphat to join him in attacking Syria. The two consulted 400 prophets and all said to fight. Macaiah was called; and he told them that disaster would follow if they attacked.

When the Moabites and Ammonites invaded Judah, Jehoshaphat gathered his people in Jerusalem to ask God's help. The Lord ambushed the enemy and Judah returned to praise the Lord.

SEE power-stealing sludge and goo drained from your car!
THAT'S THE PROMISE OF ALEMITE CD-2
OR YOU GET YOUR MONEY BACK!

You see, modern stop-and-go driving leaves your wonderful, powerful, modern engine cold—never gives it a chance to get hot and show the power it is designed to deliver. And that means trouble. Sludge and goo form inside the engine—rust and corrosion attack it—you are cheated, regardless of the gas or oil you use. You get less power, sluggish performance—and a chance of needless repair bills. That's why your car needs CD-2.
CD-2 does all this or your money back!
1. Gives any engine an on-the-road tune-up—new power—new performance—new life!
2. Dissolves and removes lacquer-like deposits on valves, rings, and pistons which make them stick.
3. Eliminates damaging rust and bearing corrosion caused by today's stop-and-go driving.
4. Banishes harmful crankcase sludge and "goo".
5. Gives oil extra wear-resistant quality—cuts friction!
6. Keeps new engines new—helps avoid costly repairs.
7. No kerosene or naphtha to boil away—works from oil change to oil change!

Jehoshaphat's Righteous Leadership

HE TAUGHT HIS PEOPLE TO TRUST IN GOD AND BE TRUE TO HIM

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

JEHOSHAPHAT, son of Asa, came to the throne of Judah after the death of his father in 870 B.C., when he was 35 years old. The first thing he did, according to Chronicles II, was to strengthen Judah against Israel, the northern kingdom which consisted of the 10 tribes which had revolted against Rehoboam.

"And the Lord was with Jehoshaphat because he walked in the first ways of his father David, and sought not unto Baalim. But sought to the Lord God of his father, and walked in His commandments, and not after the doings of Israel." Israel was still worshipping false gods.

So Jehoshaphat's kingdom was established, and all his people brought gifts to him and he had riches and honor. He took away the high places and groves out of Judah. Then, to bring his people individually to the Lord, he instituted a revival, sending out princes, among them Benhail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel and Michaiah, to teach in the cities of Judah.

These missionaries carried with them the book of the law of the Lord—undoubtedly the first five books of the Old Testament, which we call the Pentateuch. They taught the people, so that "the fear of the Lord fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands about Judah, so that they made no war against Jehoshaphat."

Jehoshaphat also built castles and cities and organized a great army, so large that some historians have doubted that little Judah could raise so many "mighty men of valor."

As fine a man as this king was, he made one grave mistake, he allowed King Ahab of Israel to persuade him to join in warring on Syria. Ahab wanted to regain some of the lands that had been taken from him by the Syrians. Jehoshaphat had gone to visit Ahab for the first time, although approximately 80 years had passed since the division of the kingdom, that the rulers had any official communication with each other.

Jehoshaphat suggested that they consult the prophets to discover if they would have the Lord's approval for this war. Ahab called 400 prophets and all said that the war was justified and approved of Jehovah.

Jehoshaphat was not satisfied, and asked if they did not have one prophet of the Lord whom they could consult. Ahab said there was one, Micaiah, but he always foretold evil for Ahab and the king hated him.

They sent for him, however, and he, being warned to agree with Ahab, at first agreed with the 400. The king was not satisfied, and told the prophet that he wanted him to tell the truth. Then Micaiah told of his visions of the Lord, who told him that Ahab should certainly not war with Syria and if he did it would be a disaster.

Ahab was so enraged with the prophecy that he had the prophet imprisoned. As he was taken away Micaiah said to Ahab, "If thou certainly return in peace, then hath not the Lord spoken by me."

Ahab was evidently frightened by Micaiah's words, so much so that he did what few if any rulers would, disguised himself, and persuaded Jehoshaphat to wear his clothing. The Syrian ruler commanded his soldiers to kill no one but Ahab, and at first they were deceived into thinking Jehoshaphat was he and they pursued him. Finding he was the wrong man, they desisted. A Syrian archer, however, took what we might call a "pot shot" with his bow and the arrow pierced Ahab's armor, wounding him mortally.

Jehoshaphat returned to Jerusalem in peace, and was chided by Hanani the seer for taking part in this war. He had offended the Lord, said the seer. However, Jehovah found good things in the king, implying that He would overlook his transgression.

If the lesson was not so long, we would like to comment at length on the king's appointment of judges and his wise counsel to them. This passage—from II Chronicles 19:5-11—should be studied earnestly by the older pupils especially. There is much wisdom and instruction in them.

Now we come to the last dramatic incident in the lesson—the invasion of Judah by the Moabites and Ammonites. Jehoshaphat gathered his people together, "all Judah, with their little ones, their wives and their children," at Jerusalem and prayed fervently to the Lord to help them.

To the prophet Jahaziel came the spirit of the Lord saying that Judah need not be afraid; they need not fight a battle, "Stand ye still, and see the salvation of the Lord with you, O Judah." The king bowed his head to the ground and all his people did likewise, and worshipped. Early next morning they went forth into the wilderness to meet the enemy.

Jehoshaphat consulted with his people and then appointed singers who would sing of the beauty of holiness and praise the Lord for His goodness. The singers went out before the army and began to sing. The Lord caused the inhabitants of Seir to ambush the Moabites and Ammonites, and they were utterly destroyed, so that from the watch tower Judah could see nothing but bodies of the dead.

Then indeed did Judah praise the Lord, pouring into Jerusalem with psalteries and harps and trumpets to thank Him for His mercies.

Jehoshaphat's Righteous Leadership ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—II Chronicles 17-20.

King Asa died and his son Jehoshaphat reigned in Judah. The Lord was with him and established the kingdom in his hand. All Judah brought presents to Jehoshaphat, and he had great riches and honors.

In the third year of his reign, King Jehoshaphat sent princes to teach in the cities of Judah. They went throughout all the cities of Judah, having the book of the law of Jehovah with them, and they taught among the people.

King Ahab of Israel asked Jehoshaphat to join him in attacking Syria. The two consulted 400 prophets and all said to fight. Macaiah was called; and he told them that disaster would follow if they attacked.

When the Moabites and Ammonites invaded Judah, Jehoshaphat gathered his people in Jerusalem to ask God's help. The Lord ambushed the enemy and Judah returned to praise the Lord.

THAT'S THE PROMISE OF ALEMITE CD-2
OR YOU GET YOUR MONEY BACK!

You see, modern stop-and-go driving leaves your wonderful, powerful, modern engine cold—never gives it a chance to get hot and show the power it is designed to deliver. And that means trouble. Sludge and goo form inside the engine—rust and corrosion attack it—you are cheated, regardless of the gas or oil you use. You get less power, sluggish performance—and a chance of needless repair bills. That's why your car needs CD-2.
CD-2 does all this or your money back!
1. Gives any engine an on-the-road tune-up—new power—new performance—new life!
2. Dissolves and removes lacquer-like deposits on valves, rings, and pistons which make them stick.
3. Eliminates damaging rust and bearing corrosion caused by today's stop-and-go driving.
4. Banishes harmful crankcase sludge and "goo".
5. Gives oil extra wear-resistant quality—cuts friction!

U.S. Business Nearing Peak Hit In 1953

Month Of May Hinted Likely To Chalk New Records In Trading

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Business recovery has brought industry and trade roughly back to the peak they climbed in the spring of 1953. The month of May could see new records set in many lines.

The feeling that the recovery is firmly based grows among businessmen. This leads an increasing number to look for good business all through this year, giving 1955 an excellent chance of being the best year yet.

May gives every sign of confirming this belief.

As for the longer pull, President Eisenhower says he's had no "earnest warnings" from his economic advisers of a possible downturn in the second half of the year. What his advisers apparently worry about most is the chance that the business upsurge might tempt the country to "get into a false rush and then fall back."

Warnings against such overconfidence and speculation have come recently from Washington. The Federal Reserve Board has raised margin regulations for the second time this year, making it necessary to put up more cash when buying stocks. Federal agencies in the housing field have put a mild curb on mortgage credit.

The big question worrying businessmen has been: What will happen if the home building fever cools, if auto production stops its record pace?

One answer is offered today by the economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York's largest. They look for a further moderate rise in consumer spending, which is now gratifyingly ahead of last year. They expect business itself to increase its spending for new plants and especially for new equipment.

"Over the year as a whole," the bank's economists think, "rising trends in these two areas should, if continued, more than outweigh the easing in autos and housing."

Consumer demand, backed by an increase in income after taxes, gets much of the credit for the recovery from the 1954 low point, in the view of the Office of Business Economics of the Commerce Department. A rise of nine per cent in manufacturers' payrolls since last summer probably has had much to do with the increase in consumer buying.

But what businessmen are interested in today is this: Will it last? Is too much of the gain based on increased debt?

An increasing number of top business executives believe it will last—judging by their statements at annual stockholders' meetings, now in full swing.

They are backing up their belief with money—as evidenced by their plans for continued expansion to meet the greater demand they expect.

Expansion didn't falter much even during the slowdown from the spring of 1953 to the fall of 1954. Top management of the nation's biggest corporations decided that would be but a temporary bobble. They kept right on planning for the long haul.

How big we'll be in 1960, and how prosperous then, may seem of little moment to many people now. But it's vitally important to the top management of the nation's industry.

So, they'll look with interest on the prediction of the Twentieth Century Fund, a nonprofit foundation for scientific and economic research. It foresees a total national output of 414 billion dollars in 1960.

If so, the fund says, that would make possible an average family income of more than $6,000 a year. That's only five years away.

Hal Boyle Says:

Chasing Dollar Brings Dolor

NEW YORK (AP) — The tired businessman might prolong his health and life if he really learned to think of his job in terms of romance rather than work.

"I have been resurrected by this idea," said Harvey Greenspan, a former six-ulcer man.

At 42 Greenspan, a financial genius, cashed in his chips, figuring he would soon die. Now at 61 he has chipped in his cash (some $400,000) to pioneer in the marketing of a new vitamin-rich fruit juice concentrate made from a little-known Puerto Rican cherry called the acerola.

"It is my latest and maybe my last romance," he said cheerfully during a visit here. "But however it turns out, it is more fun than buying chorus girls jewelry. I don't want that kind of romance."

Greenspan learned the bitter way the dolor that can come from pursuing the dollar too hard for its own sake.

He worked his way through Columbia University here, specializing in business law. At 30 he had his own financial firm. For the next dozen years he worked himself ragged flitting back and forth across the country buying, reorganizing and selling corporations. One day in 1936 he collapsed. In addition to wealth he had piled up six king-size ulcers.

"I had more ulcers than freckles," he recalled. "A doctor told me that if I didn't undergo an operation for the removal of my stomach I'd die."

Greenspan thought it over and decided he'd rather die than part with his stomach. He sold out his business interests and moved to Florida, figuring "I might as well be warm while I was dying.

"I swore that if I ever got well, I'd be the busiest and happiest man in 48 states. And I am."

Greenspan never fully conquered all his ulcers but, as he says, "we worked out an agreement so we'd be able to get along together on a basis of mutual respect."

In 1949 while tinkering with a citrus concentrate that could be taken by children allergic to orange juice, he conferred with Dr. James R. Wilson of the American Medical Assn. in Chicago. During the conversation Dr. Wilson, a nutritionist, mentioned that the Puerto Rican acerola was up to 80 times as rich in vitamin C as orange juice, and should prove a good natural source of this vital element for undernourished children.

After five years of experimentation and plantation building in Puerto Rico, he has 25,000 producing Acerola trees, 25,000 more planted. This year he expects to market six million cans of apple juice blended with acerola concentrate, estimates a market of 24 million cans within another few years.

Those who know Greenspan best doubt that he will ever be without a smile, an ulcer or money in the bank.

Actress OK Now

BOSTON (AP)—Actress Diana Barrymore returned to her role in the play "Pajama Tops" last night. She said the overdose of sleeping pills which put her in the hospital Wednesday night was taken to "calm my nerves."

Television Networks Ready For All-Out Scrap In Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—If you think TV networks have been battling this season, you haven't seen anything yet. Just wait until next fall.

In their fight for audiences, they're planning wholesale schedule changes and new programs that will require the viewer who tunes by habit to memorize again.

There also will be notable casualties in the race for ratings, among them NBC-TV's Mr. Peepers and the Ray Milland Show on CBS, due to bow off in a few weeks. Peepers was dropped once before and restored to the air when numerous fans protested but as of now it's scheduled to go.

In the upcoming battle, CBS will toss some 90-minute spectaculars of its own against NBC, which started them this season, and NBC will step up its own output.

NBC will have at least one added starter month, a Sunday afternoon dramatic spectacle to be produced by Mauric Evans. CBS' plans still are somewhat nebulous but the network is dickering with Noel Coward and Mary Martin to participate in a project.

On Saturday night, NBC is expected to pit a new one-hour Perry Como show against CBS' Jackie Gleason.

ABC, which came up fast this season with Disneyland and Rin Tin Tin, is taking over the Wednesday night boxing bouts now telecast on CBS, starting in June. CBS will take over the alternat week Theater Guild dramatic sho on ABC.

Du Mont, for its part, is cu tailing its live network transmis sions to switch to distribution o its shows on film, except fo sports events and major specia events.

Some sponges are as tall as man.

May gives every sign of confirming this belief.

As for the longer pull, President Eisenhower says he's had no "earnest warnings" from his economic advisers of a possible downturn in the second half of the year. What his advisers apparently worry about most is the chance that the business upsurge might tempt the country to "get into a false rush and then fall back."

Warnings against such overconfidence and speculation have come recently from Washington. The Federal Reserve Board has raised margin regulations for the second time this year, making it necessary to put up more cash when buying stocks. Federal agencies in the housing field have put a mild curb on mortgage credit.

The big question worrying businessmen has been: What will happen if the home building fever cools, if auto production stops its record pace?

One answer is offered today by the economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York's largest. They look for a further moderate rise in consumer spending, which is now gratifyingly ahead of last year. They expect business itself to increase its spending for new plants and especially for new equipment.

"Over the year as a whole," the bank's economists think, "rising trends in these two areas should, if continued, more than outweigh the easing in autos and housing."

Consumer demand, backed by an increase in income after taxes, gets much of the credit for the recovery from the 1954 low point, in the view of the Office of Business Economics of the Commerce Department. A rise of nine per cent in manufacturers' payrolls since last summer probably has had much to do with the increase in consumer buying.

But what businessmen are interested in today is this: Will it last? Is too much of the gain based on increased debt?

An increasing number of top business executives believe it will last—judging by their statements at annual stockholders' meetings, now in full swing.

They are backing up their belief with money—as evidenced by their plans for continued expansion to meet the greater demand they expect.

Expansion didn't falter much even during the slowdown from the spring of 1953 to the fall of 1954. Top management of the nation's biggest corporations decided that would be but a temporary bobble. They kept right on planning for the long haul.

How big we'll be in 1960, and how prosperous then, may seem of little moment to many people now. But it's vitally important to the top management of the nation's industry.

So, they'll look with interest on the prediction of the Twentieth Century Fund, a nonprofit foundation for scientific and economic research. It foresees a total national output of 414 billion dollars in 1960.

If so, the fund says, that would make possible an average family income of more than $6,000 a year. That's only five years away.

Hal Boyle Says:

Chasing Dollar Brings Dolor

NEW YORK (AP) — The tired businessman might prolong his health and life if he really learned to think of his job in terms of romance rather than work.

"I have been resurrected by this idea," said Harvey Greenspan, a former six-ulcer man.

At 42 Greenspan, a financial genius, cashed in his chips, figuring he would soon die. Now at 61 he has chipped in his cash (some $400,000) to pioneer in the marketing of a new vitamin-rich fruit juice concentrate made from a little-known Puerto Rican cherry called the acerola.

"It is my latest and maybe my last romance," he said cheerfully during a visit here. "But however it turns out, it is more fun than buying chorus girls jewelry. I don't want that kind of romance."

Greenspan learned the bitter way the dolor that can come from pursuing the dollar too hard for its own sake.

He worked his way through Columbia University here, specializing in business law. At 30 he had his own financial firm. For the next dozen years he worked himself ragged flitting back and forth across the country buying, reorganizing and selling corporations. One day in 1936 he collapsed. In addition to wealth he had piled up six king-size ulcers.

"I had more ulcers than freckles," he recalled. "A doctor told me that if I didn't undergo an operation for the removal of my stomach I'd die."

Greenspan thought it over and decided he'd rather die than part with his stomach. He sold out his business interests and moved to Florida, figuring "I might as well be warm while I was dying.

"I swore that if I ever got well, I'd be the busiest and happiest man in 48 states. And I am."

Greenspan never fully conquered all his ulcers but, as he says, "we worked out an agreement so we'd be able to get along together on a basis of mutual respect."

In 1949 while tinkering with a citrus concentrate that could be taken by children allergic to orange juice, he conferred with Dr. James R. Wilson of the American Medical Assn. in Chicago. During the conversation Dr. Wilson, a nutritionist, mentioned that the Puerto Rican acerola was up to 80 times as rich in vitamin C as orange juice, and should prove a good natural source of this vital element for undernourished children.

After five years of experimentation and plantation building in Puerto Rico, he has 25,000 producing Acerola trees, 25,000 more planted. This year he expects to market six million cans of apple juice blended with acerola concentrate, estimates a market of 24 million cans within another few years.

Those who know Greenspan best doubt that he will ever be without a smile, an ulcer or money in the bank.

Actress OK Now

BOSTON (AP)—Actress Diana Barrymore returned to her role in the play "Pajama Tops" last night. She said the overdose of sleeping pills which put her in the hospital Wednesday night was taken to "calm my nerves."

Television Networks Ready For All-Out Scrap In Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—If you think TV networks have been battling this season, you haven't seen anything yet. Just wait until next fall.

In their fight for audiences, they're planning wholesale schedule changes and new programs that will require the viewer who tunes by habit to memorize again.

There also will be notable casualties in the race for ratings, among them NBC-TV's Mr. Peepers and the Ray Milland Show on CBS, due to bow off in a few weeks. Peepers was dropped once before and restored to the air when numerous fans protested but as of now it's scheduled to go.

In the upcoming battle, CBS will toss some 90-minute spectaculars of its own against NBC, which started them this season, and NBC will step up its own output.

NBC will have at least one added starter month, a Sunday afternoon dramatic spectacle to be produced by Mauric Evans. CBS' plans still are somewhat nebulous but the network is dickering with Noel Coward and Mary Martin to participate in a project.

On Saturday night, NBC is expected to pit a new one-hour Perry Como show against CBS' Jackie Gleason.

ABC, which came up fast this season with Disneyland and Rin Tin Tin, is taking over the Wednesday night boxing bouts now telecast on CBS, starting in June. CBS will take over the alternate week Theater Guild dramatic show on ABC.

Du Mont, for its part, is curtailing its live network transmissions to switch to distribution of its shows on film, except for sports events and major special events.

FRINGE BENEFITS

FORD MOTOR Company has announced that each of its hourly workers last year received extra fringe benefits totalling $736. For every six dollars the employe received in wages the company added an extra dollar in direct benefits. These fringe benefits are income tax exempt.

Under the law in Michigan, and in many other states, the employer must pay all administrative costs of unemployment compensation, including salaries of employes directly connected with the program.

Fringe benefits are many and varied, including paid vacations and full time pay for holidays. Ford supplements social security retirement with added monthly payments of $52.50. The company pays half the costs of hospital and surgical benefits.

Life insurance which would cost the individual $118 a year is provided by the company for $41 a year. In eight years employes received a total of three million dollars for ideas and suggestions benefiting the company and its product.

These various fringes cost the company $97 million last year. These benefits can be continued only as long as the company is prosperous. "As long as we are free to operate on sound business principles," one official explained, "we can afford to pay good wages and offer the kind of fringe benefits that Ford men and women now enjoy.

LONG LIFE

DR. JOHAN BJORKSTEN, head of scientific research foundation in Wisconsin, says he has arrived at a theory by which man may live indefinitely if not longer. He speaks of restoring the fabled life span of Methuselah—969 years.

Since Bjorksten doesn't talk the language of an exact scientist and is merely engaging in wishful thinking in a pseudo-scientific manner, there is no immediate need to start worrying about the overwhelming social problems that would be created by a life span of a thousand years.

There would be a period of centuries in which no one passed on, and death would be a unique and frightening thing when it made its reappearance.

Until more is revealed of the expressed hope of this transplanted Scandinavian, it is not clear upon what grain of new knowledge, if any, his scheme is based. Could it be a propaganda outgiving to keep ahead of Russia? Russian "science" has been promising a life span of 150 years. Delivery date in the Soviet lands has not yet arrived.

But America, inciting unhappiness behind the iron curtain, can say: "Look, you are promised only 150 years. Capitalism promises you a thousand." The Russians would be in a ridiculous position if they tried to outbid that.

Thirteen other countries will share in U. S. atomic secrets. Russia, which already has them, will make 14.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

TWO MEN

Recently I went up to the City College of New York to debate the more or less moot question of whether Communists should be permitted to teach in the schools. All the time that I was there I could not help but think of two men, both of whom had been students of this school, Julius Rosenberg and Dr. Jonas Salk.

Both originated in identical environments. Both were New York boys of Jewish parentage. One was brought up on what is called the Lower East Side; the other in the Bronx. I know what their lives were because I spent my boyhood in the same atmosphere. Some of the younger sociologists would call us slightly underprivileged which we never were, but that is another matter.

We all lived in crowded tenements, in close quarters. We were all products of the New York City public school system; we all went to pubic high schools. Our parents made great sacrifices to provide for our education. What we lacked in wealth, we made up in enthusiasm and earnestness.

Julius Rosenberg died in the electric chair, a traitor to his country. Dr. Jonas Salk is honored not only for his persistent scientific work which may save millions of lives but even more for his unerring self-sacrifice, his humility, his profound sense of service.

Both came from the same environment. Both went to the same free college. Both were of an age, a few years apart, and may have had the same instructors. What made the difference?

When I was a student, no one would think of attending a public gathering without a jacket and a necktie, nor would we in any manner show disrespect for our elders. And we knew that they were our elders. We accepted it as an indisputable fact that if a man spent 20 or more years working in a field and achieved the eminence of being a professor in an outstanding university, he knew more about his subject and was likely to have better judgment than a sophomore.

Not that we did not argue and differ and debate but we dared not cross the line where difference of opinion became boorishness and disrespect. The emphasis was on respect. And it was a two-sided emphasis. The professor who did not hold the respect of colleague and student was asked to leave—and there were no two ways about that.

In my day, there was no catering to youth; the converse today is probably one of the principal causes for what is called juvenile delinquency. Young people require discipline, self-discipline, if they are capable of it; external discipline, if that is the only way. The assumption that because a person is young, his indiscretions, impudence and lack of integrity need to be tolerated has not proved itself to be correct.

Julius Rosenberg did not rebel against conformity. He became a spy by free choice as an act of supreme wickedness. Dr. Salk, as a researcher, has not conformed intellectually because he does not accept the unknown as unknowable, which is an act of non-conformity. The difference is whether one has a sloppy mind or a precise mind. The sloppy mind thinks in terms of cliches, slogans, vulgar tricks of words. It is impossible to work in science with a sloppy mind.

Don't Nurse the Baby If You Have Chronic Ill

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

When Not to Nurse Baby

If you are a new mother, you probably should not nurse your baby if you have tuberculosis or a chronic weakening illness such as heart or kidney trouble, severe anemia, diabetes or cancer.

If you have a contagious disease such as scarlet fever, your baby should be kept away from you entirely. If you are not too ill, you should make every effort to keep up your milk supply. Empty your breasts by hand until you recover from your illness and can nurse your baby.

If you become pregnant again while nursing your infant, it may be advisable to stop nursing him.

Too Great a Strain

Now don't misunderstand. Pregnancy has no adverse effect on breast milk. But many doctors believe that it is too much of a strain for a mother to nurse one baby at her breast and at the same time nourish another within the womb.

I think your doctor will also advise against nursing if you have a breast abscess. He will, at least, tell you not to use the infected breast. You may find an ice bag helpful in checking the infection. If that fails, penicillin usually will clear it up.

Some mothers make the mistake of stopping breast feedings because of menstruation. Usually these monthly periods do not begin until five to seven months after the birth of a baby. No matter when they begin, there is no need to stop nursing.

Nervousness during these periods may reduce the amount of milk in the breasts for a few days. And your baby may become a little restless because of your nervousness.

But he will get plenty to eat from nursing. You won't have to give him any additional milk.

CHAPTER THIRTY

McKEE WENT on with his story, "David Redgate admitted guilt because he was absolutely convinced that his sister was guilty. It was a tragedy of errors. Lofting and Trout were both staying at the inn. Lofting had already made up his mind that Trout had to be disposed of and he was very much on the alert. He saw Regina come and go that night, saw the doctor come, and the doctor and Trout leave in the doctor's car. Lofting followed in his own. At the foot of the inn driveway Redgate turned right and ran along the cliff road to the little park near the top of the steps leading down to Yonkers. Trout got out there and Redgate drove on. Lofting pulled his own car well off the road and started after Trout. He caught up with him at the edge of the cliff, hit him with a tire iron and sent him over the edge and down on that shelf of rock, and ran for the steps to finish the job. It was while this was going on that Amy Redgate arrived.

"Keep in mind," McKee said, "that it was snowing heavily, that it was night, and that visibility was very poor. But there was some. Amy Redgate did have a blowout that night, as she said, but she had the blowout near the inn gates. She saw her brother go past with Trout, caught a glimpse of her brother's face and was terrified. Redgate loathed Trout, as you know. Amy ran after the doctor's car on foot as far as the bend, trying to see where he was going. Lofting went past her but she didn't notice.

"What she saw when she was close to the little park was two men struggling on the cliff edge. One man went over, and the other disappeared down the steps. She jumped to the conclusion that the man who had gone over the cliff was Trout and that the man who had attacked Trout was her brother. She ran to the cliff edge and peered down. Below her, Lofting was finishing Trout off. She heard blows, other sounds—and stumbled off in the general direction of her car.

"At that point David Redgate came back. He had driven on only a short distance after dropping Trout when he pulled up. He didn't trust Trout, thought Trout might have pretended to leave, or that he might lose his way and return. Redgate made quickly for the steps on foot. He was coming from the south. A vague figure—Amy Redgate—was disappearing to the north. Redgate didn't recognize his sister then. He had a flashlight, switched it on. He saw tramped snow at the cliff edge. There was blood on the snow. Redgate in turn ran down the steps and found Trout's dead body—and something else. His sister's pocketbook was lying within five feet of the dead man, where it had dropped when Amy Redgate leaned over the cliff edge trying to see.

Trout was beyond help. Redgate's first intention had been to call the police. He remembered the half-seen figure hurrying away from the top of the steps, knew it was his sister, and was overwhelmed.

"Amy knew about Regina's will. Regina had told her, she could know the whole story—and how much money there was. She would do anything to advance his interest, was far more ambitious for him, sometimes fiercely so, than he was for himself. He couldn't hand his sister over to the police. He picked up her purse and walked off.

"What Amy didn't see, couldn't see, was Barry Lofting, under cover near the body. The lethargic note again. Lofting is a man with the ability to stand still and think a situation out. He had done it before, when Andrus fell practically at his feet near the body of Midnight Mike. He dragged Trout's body into the cave. He didn't bury him then—he's done some talking—he came back and did that later.

"His chief anxiety at that point was Amy Redgate. He didn't think she had recognized him but he had to try to find out. He made for the Redgate house, and arrived in time to see Amy Redgate shoot her brother through the window, not to kill Redgate but to handcuff him, make him helpless, keep him tied to the house. Lofting grasped the situation at once—Amy convinced her brother was guilty, and Redgate that his sister was. This was hammered home by the affair of the pocketbook.

"I've talked to both the Redgates. This is what happened. The moment the shot was fired Amy Redgate rushed inside. Redgate was on the floor with blood spurting. He hadn't yet lost consciousness. He waved at the bag that stood on his desk and said, 'Your bag, Amy, I found it.' They looked at each other. Each one saw a murderer. Amy Redgate said vaguely, 'Oh, yes, I lost it. Thanks.' And that was all. Neither of them said another word.

"It was Lofting who had removed Mrs. Casserly's diary and put it on the cellar floor, Lofting who deposited Trout's laundry slip under the doctor's window—which deepened the brother and sister's suspicion of each other. It was Lofting who had thrown the gravel up at Regina's window last night, wearing Trout's hat and coat, Lofting who had thrown the coat over you and pushed you down the cellar steps."

"He would have killed Regina?" Susan asked. At McKee's nod, coldness closed around her.

"Lofting didn't know, still doesn't know, about Regina's will—that's the joker."

McKee explained that again it was Dave Redgate who stopped Lofting in his tracks. There were detectives in the house, in the room across from Regina's, more men outside. They had orders not to move prematurely. It was very dark around the back door. Just as Lofting was about to mount the back steps and enter, after disposing of Susan, Redgate came limping up. He was worried about Regina and Susan being alone in the house. Lofting faded into the deep shadow along the side wall and stayed there while Redgate mounted the back steps and went inside and up the stairs. Amy Redgate was on her brother's heels determined to stop another murder. She thought he was going to kill Regina. The detectives came out of hiding. The lights flashed on inside—and Lofting melted away.

Susan said, "And this morning? Dave had confessed. Why did Barry—"

McKee said, "A man can stand just so much pressure. Lofting was on the very edge of being discovered a number of times. The unaccustomed activity into which he was thrust—his mental processes are slow—told on his nerves. He realized that the blackmailing game was pretty well over. You were his one remaining hope, you and a future dowry—Regina could always die later. Then you telephoned, breaking your engagement. It was the last straw."

McKee shrugged. "The gun was Andrus'. Lofting might possibly have got away with it at that, except for two things. Todhunter was on his trail all the way, and we linked up Trout's coat with the back of Lofting's car, very early this morning. There was a special grease on the coat, and a particular kind of dust."

The door opened then and Todhunter and Jim Andrus came in. Susan had seen Regina briefly. She hadn't seen Jim Andrus since morning. Jim asked her how she was and she said all right. He sat down beside her and took her hand. She let it lie limply in his. She felt strange with him, awkward, shy.

McKee was wanted on the phone. He went out. Todhunter lingered.

Jim said to Susan, "That shot of Mr. Todhunter's this morning saved our lives."

Todhunter protested. "You knocked Miss Dwight out of the way."

"O.K.," Andrus conceded. "Then you saved my life."

Pink with pleasure, Todhunter shook her hand. He said, concerned, "You're cold, miss."

"Not now," Susan smiled at him. Andrus had moved closer to her. His arm was around her shoulders. The mystery and strangeness began to go. Warmth was seeping back into her, and comfort and a deep sensation of rest.

TRESPASS — (TRES-pas) — verb intransitive; to exceed the bounds of what is lawful, right or just; to sin; to offend; hence to encroach, as on another's privileges, rights, privacy, etc.; to intrude. In law—to commit a trespass. Origin: Old French—Trespasser, to go across or over; transgress; die, from Tres (Latin—Trans, across) plus passer, to pass.

IT HAPPENED TODAY

1745—Oliver Ellsworth, third chief justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, born. 1769—The Duke of Wellington born, English soldier and statesman. 1860—Birth date of Lorado Taft, noted American sculptor. 1860—Alexander II of Russia proclaimed emancipation of serfs.

FOLKS OF FAME—GUESS THE NAME

1—We go back to colonial days for him, as you see from his picture. He was born in Derby, England, Dec. 4, 1585, and educated at Trinity college, Cambridge, and became a fellow of Emmanuel college, Cambridge, then a stronghold of Puritanism. He was vicar of a church in Boston, Lincolnshire, for 21 years, and when he ceased to observe the ceremonies prescribed by the legally authorized ritual of the English church action was begun against him in court. He escaped, disguised, to London, lay concealed for awhile, then eluded the watch set for him at English ports and emigrated to America, arriving in Boston early in 1633. He was chosen "teacher" of the First Church of Boston, and remained there until his death in 1652. He was termed "The Patriarch of New England," and among his many writings are The Keys to the Kingdom of Heaven and the Power Thereof, The Way of the Churches of Christ in New England, etc. Who was he?

2—Today's motion picture fans won't recognize her, but some of the older ones will. She was born in Milanda, Minn., and educated in a convent in Minneapolis. She began her career in her father's tent show, appeared in stock, and then on the screen. Stella Dallas was her first picture. Mother Machree, Battle of the Sexes, The Iron Mask, Queen of the Burlesque, Reputation, Molly and Me, My Lady's Past, Their Own Desire were others. She was a popular actress in her day. What was her name?

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's program to terminate, or minimize, the federal government's interference with private enterprise through competition or direct participation has gained new momentum and support within the last few weeks, although Roosevelt-Truman "liberals" on and off Capitol Hill still wage a fierce rearguard action against it.

The fact that the movement is far from full achievement does not conceal a fundamental fact. Ike's persistence in trying to get Uncle Sam out of private business and industry testifies to his underlying philosophy. As he has said, he believes in being liberal on social problems, but conservative with respect to economic matters. He has not been completely successful for several reasons, but he is still pitching.

* * *

FAILURES—The reasons for his temporary failures are ironic. Leftwing Democrats oppose his efforts to trim the ship of state to contitutional size and direction. If they succeed in their stalling tactics, they expect to recover all the ground they have lost when they return to power under a Stevenson, a Harriman, a Williams, or somebody now not identified.

Conservative Republicans denounce Eisenhower's demands for retention, and sometimes the expansion, of such basic reforms as Social Security. Refusing to recognize that he seeks to integrate certain popular and political benefits into a more businesslike program, their opposition jeopardizes Eisenhower's more enduring and far-reaching policy — namely, the preservation and the strengthening of the American system of free enterprise and initiative.

* * *

IMPRESSIVE — Nevertheless, in view of the New Dealers' and Fair Dealers' control at Washington for 20 years, and the lack of full domination of the Legislative branch, the President's accomplishments along this line have been impressive.

Even more significantly, he is gaining the support of numerous powerful elements inside and outside Congress, including some which originally criticized his general objective.

With slightly more than two years, he has sold or leased wartime synthetic rubber plants, barge lines, refineries, rum plants and other facilities which his enemies wanted to retain as Federal property. As they argued with regard to the Tennessee Valley authority and other projects, they wanted to keep this kind of competition for "yardstick" purposes, although TVA has long since ceased to fulfill that function.

Ike has liquidated the Reconstruction Finance Corp., which had become a corrupt, costly and unnecessary agency under the Truman Administration. Whereas it had been an essential prop to business and industry under Jesse H. Jones' management, it had degenerated into a political pawnshop. And yet, many Democratic "liberals" fought its demise on the ground that it should become the handmaiden of "small business."

The Dixon-Yates, TVA - AEC contract, still blocked by TVA apostles, was designed as a method for preventing the growth and expansion of a vast federal power empire, which now manufactures about 25 per cent of the nation's hydroelectricity.

The Administration's preference for private development of Hell's Canyon in Idaho, and possibly of the Niagara River in New York, is a step in the same direction.

* * *

HOOVER — Significant of a change in popular and politico-economic sentiment is the calm reaction to the Hoover Commission's proposal that the parcel post system be sold to private interests. Although supposedly nonpartisan, this agency consists of Democratic and Republican men generally sympathetic to the Administration.

Ike is also believed to favor Hoover recommendations for letting private contractors provide billions in food, clothing and services to many government units, especially the Armed Services.

Despite the radical nature of these suggestions, there has been no outraged outcry against them. The people and politicians seem to prefer "small" rather than "big government" these days. And that is the basis of the White House program.

FRINGE BENEFITS

FORD MOTOR Company has announced that each of its hourly workers last year received extra fringe benefits totalling $736. For every six dollars the employe received in wages the company added an extra dollar in direct benefits. These fringe benefits are income tax exempt.

Under the law in Michigan, and in many other states, the employer must pay all administrative costs of unemployment compensation, including salaries of employes directly connected with the program.

Fringe benefits are many and varied, including paid vacations and full time pay for holidays. Ford supplements social security retirement with added monthly payments of $52.50. The company pays half the costs of hospital and surgical benefits.

Life insurance which would cost the individual $118 a year is provided by the company for $41 a year. In eight years employes received a total of three million dollars for ideas and suggestions benefiting the company and its product.

These various fringes cost the company $97 million last year. These benefits can be continued only as long as the company is prosperous. "As long as we are free to operate on sound business principles," one official explained, "we can afford to pay good wages and offer the kind of fringe benefits that Ford men and women now enjoy.

LONG LIFE

DR. JOHAN BJORKSTEN, head of scientific research foundation in Wisconsin, says he has arrived at a theory by which man may live indefinitely if not longer. He speaks of restoring the fabled life span of Methuselah—969 years.

Since Bjorksten doesn't talk the language of an exact scientist and is merely engaging in wishful thinking in a pseudo-scientific manner, there is no immediate need to start worrying about the overwhelming social problems that would be created by a life span of a thousand years.

There would be a period of centuries in which no one passed on, and death would be a unique and frightening thing when it made its reappearance.

Until more is revealed of the expressed hope of this transplanted Scandinavian, it is not clear upon what grain of new knowledge, if any, his scheme is based. Could it be a propaganda outgiving to keep ahead of Russia? Russian "science" has been promising a life span of 150 years. Delivery date in the Soviet lands has not yet arrived.

But America, inciting unhappiness behind the iron curtain, can say: "Look, you are promised only 150 years. Capitalism promises you a thousand." The Russians would be in a ridiculous position if they tried to outbid that.

Thirteen other countries will share in U. S. atomic secrets. Russia, which already has them, will make 14.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

TWO MEN

Recently I went up to the City College of New York to debate the more or less moot question of whether Communists should be permitted to teach in the schools. All the time that I was there I could not help but think of two men, both of whom had been students of this school, Julius Rosenberg and Dr. Jonas Salk.

Both originated in identical environments. Both were New York boys of Jewish parentage. One was brought up on what is called the Lower East Side; the other in the Bronx. I know what their lives were because I spent my boyhood in the same atmosphere. Some of the younger sociologists would call us slightly underprivileged which we never were, but that is another matter.

We all lived in crowded tenements, in close quarters. We were all products of the New York City public school system; we all went to pubic high schools. Our parents made great sacrifices to provide for our education. What we lacked in wealth, we made up in enthusiasm and earnestness.

Julius Rosenberg died in the electric chair, a traitor to his country. Dr. Jonas Salk is honored not only for his persistent scientific work which may save millions of lives but even more for his unerring self-sacrifice, his humility, his profound sense of service.

Both came from the same environment. Both went to the same free college. Both were of an age, a few years apart, and may have had the same instructors. What made the difference?

When I was a student, no one would think of attending a public gathering without a jacket and a necktie, nor would we in any manner show disrespect for our elders. And we knew that they were our elders. We accepted it as an indisputable fact that if a man spent 20 or more years working in a field and achieved the eminence of being a professor in an outstanding university, he knew more about his subject and was likely to have better judgment than a sophomore.

Not that we did not argue and differ and debate but we dared not cross the line where difference of opinion became boorishness and disrespect. The emphasis was on respect. And it was a two-sided emphasis. The professor who did not hold the respect of colleague and student was asked to leave—and there were no two ways about that.

In my day, there was no catering to youth; the converse today is probably one of the principal causes for what is called juvenile delinquency. Young people require discipline, self-discipline, if they are capable of it; external discipline, if that is the only way. The assumption that because a person is young, his indiscretions, impudence and lack of integrity need to be tolerated has not proved itself to be correct.

Julius Rosenberg did not rebel against conformity. He became a spy by free choice as an act of supreme wickedness. Dr. Salk, as a researcher, has not conformed intellectually because he does not accept the unknown as unknowable, which is an act of non-conformity. The difference is whether one has a sloppy mind or a precise mind. The sloppy mind thinks in terms of cliches, slogans, vulgar tricks of words. It is impossible to work in science with a sloppy mind.

Don't Nurse the Baby If You Have Chronic Ill

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

When Not to Nurse Baby

If you are a new mother, you probably should not nurse your baby if you have tuberculosis or a chronic weakening illness such as heart or kidney trouble, severe anemia, diabetes or cancer.

If you have a contagious disease such as scarlet fever, your baby should be kept away from you entirely. If you are not too ill, you should make every effort to keep up your milk supply. Empty your breasts by hand until you recover from your illness and can nurse your baby.

If you become pregnant again while nursing your infant, it may be advisable to stop nursing him.

Too Great a Strain

Now don't misunderstand. Pregnancy has no adverse effect on breast milk. But many doctors believe that it is too much of a strain for a mother to nurse one baby at her breast and at the same time nourish another within the womb.

I think your doctor will also advise against nursing if you have a breast abscess. He will, at least, tell you not to use the infected breast. You may find an ice bag helpful in checking the infection. If that fails, penicillin usually will clear it up.

Some mothers make the mistake of stopping breast feedings because of menstruation. Usually these monthly periods do not begin until five to seven months after the birth of a baby. No matter when they begin, there is no need to stop nursing.

Nervousness during these periods may reduce the amount of milk in the breasts for a few days. And your baby may become a little restless because of your nervousness.

But he will get plenty to eat from nursing. You won't have to give him any additional milk.

Tell Her It's MURDER

CHAPTER THIRTY

McKEE WENT on with his story, "David Redgate admitted guilt because he was absolutely convinced that his sister was guilty. It was a tragedy of errors. Lofting and Trout were both staying at the inn. Lofting had already made up his mind that Trout had to be disposed of and he was very much on the alert. He saw Regina come and go that night, saw the doctor come, and the doctor and Trout leave in the doctor's car. Lofting followed in his own. At the foot of the inn driveway Redgate turned right and ran along the cliff road to the little park near the top of the steps leading down to Yonkers. Trout got out there and Redgate drove on. Lofting pulled his own car well off the road and started after Trout. He caught up with him at the edge of the cliff, hit him with a tire iron and sent him over the edge and down on that shelf of rock, and ran for the steps to finish the job. It was while this was going on that Amy Redgate arrived.

"Keep in mind," McKee said, "that it was snowing heavily, that it was night, and that visibility was very poor. But there was some. Amy Redgate did have a blowout that night, as she said, but she had the blowout near the inn gates. She saw her brother go past with Trout, caught a glimpse of her brother's face and was terrified. Redgate loathed Trout, as you know. Amy ran after the doctor's car on foot as far as the bend, trying to see where he was going. Lofting went past her but she didn't notice.

"What she saw when she was close to the little park was two men struggling on the cliff edge. One man went over, and the other disappeared down the steps. She jumped to the conclusion that the man who had gone over the cliff was Trout and that the man who had attacked Trout was her brother. She ran to the cliff edge and peered down. Below her, Lofting was finishing Trout off. She heard blows, other sounds—and stumbled off in the general direction of her car.

"At that point David Redgate came back. He had driven on only a short distance after dropping Trout when he pulled up. He didn't trust Trout, thought Trout might have pretended to leave, or that he might lose his way and return. Redgate made quickly for the steps on foot. He was coming from the south. A vague figure—Amy Redgate—was disappearing to the north. Redgate didn't recognize his sister then. He had a flashlight, switched it on. He saw tramped snow at the cliff edge. There was blood on the snow. Redgate in turn ran down the steps and found Trout's dead body—and something else. His sister's pocketbook was lying within five feet of the dead man, where it had dropped when Amy Redgate leaned over the cliff edge trying to see.

Trout was beyond help. Redgate's first intention had been to call the police. He remembered the half-seen figure hurrying away from the top of the steps, knew it was his sister, and was overwhelmed.

"Amy knew about Regina's will. Regina had told her, she could know the whole story—and how much money there was. She would do anything to advance his interest, was far more ambitious for him, sometimes fiercely so, than he was for himself. He couldn't hand his sister over to the police. He picked up her purse and walked off.

"What Amy didn't see, couldn't see, was Barry Lofting, under cover near the body. The lethargic note again. Lofting is a man with the ability to stand still and think a situation out. He had done it before, when Andrus fell practically at his feet near the body of Midnight Mike. He dragged Trout's body into the cave. He didn't bury him then—he's done some talking—he came back and did that later.

"His chief anxiety at that point was Amy Redgate. He didn't think she had recognized him but he had to try to find out. He made for the Redgate house, and arrived in time to see Amy Redgate shoot her brother through the window, not to kill Redgate but to handcuff him, make him helpless, keep him tied to the house. Lofting grasped the situation at once—Amy convinced her brother was guilty, and Redgate that his sister was. This was hammered home by the affair of the pocketbook.

"I've talked to both the Redgates. This is what happened. The moment the shot was fired Amy Redgate rushed inside. Redgate was on the floor with blood spurting. He hadn't yet lost consciousness. He waved at the bag that stood on his desk and said, 'Your bag, Amy, I found it.' They looked at each other. Each one saw a murderer. Amy Redgate said vaguely, 'Oh, yes, I lost it. Thanks.' And that was all. Neither of them said another word.

"It was Lofting who had removed Mrs. Casserly's diary and put it on the cellar floor, Lofting who deposited Trout's laundry slip under the doctor's window—which deepened the brother and sister's suspicion of each other. It was Lofting who had thrown the gravel up at Regina's window last night, wearing Trout's hat and coat, Lofting who had thrown the coat over you and pushed you down the cellar steps."

"He would have killed Regina?" Susan asked. At McKee's nod, coldness closed around her.

"Lofting didn't know, still doesn't know, about Regina's will—that's the joker."

McKee explained that again it was Dave Redgate who stopped Lofting in his tracks. There were detectives in the house, in the room across from Regina's, more men outside. They had orders not to move prematurely. It was very dark around the back door. Just as Lofting was about to mount the back steps and enter, after disposing of Susan, Redgate came limping up. He was worried about Regina and Susan being alone in the house. Lofting faded into the deep shadow along the side wall and stayed there while Redgate mounted the back steps and went inside and up the stairs. Amy Redgate was on her brother's heels determined to stop another murder. She thought he was going to kill Regina. The detectives came out of hiding. The lights flashed on inside—and Lofting melted away.

Susan said, "And this morning? Dave had confessed. Why did Barry—"

McKee said, "A man can stand just so much pressure. Lofting was on the very edge of being discovered a number of times. The unaccustomed activity into which he was thrust—his mental processes are slow—told on his nerves. He realized that the blackmailing game was pretty well over. You were his one remaining hope, you and a future dowry—Regina could always die later. Then you telephoned, breaking your engagement. It was the last straw."

McKee shrugged. "The gun was Andrus'. Lofting might possibly have got away with it at that, except for two things. Todhunter was on his trail all the way, and we linked up Trout's coat with the back of Lofting's car, very early this morning. There was a special grease on the coat, and a particular kind of dust."

The door opened then and Todhunter and Jim Andrus came in. Susan had seen Regina briefly. She hadn't seen Jim Andrus since morning. Jim asked her how she was and she said all right. He sat down beside her and took her hand. She let it lie limply in his. She felt strange with him, awkward, shy.

McKee was wanted on the phone. He went out. Todhunter lingered.

Jim said to Susan, "That shot of Mr. Todhunter's this morning saved our lives."

Todhunter protested. "You knocked Miss Dwight out of the way."

"O.K.," Andrus conceded. "Then you saved my life."

Pink with pleasure, Todhunter shook her hand. He said, concerned, "You're cold, miss."

"Not now," Susan smiled at him. Andrus had moved closer to her. His arm was around her shoulders. The mystery and strangeness began to go. Warmth was seeping back into her, and comfort and a deep sensation of rest.

1—We go back to colonial days for him, as you see from his picture. He was born in Derby, England, Dec. 4, 1585, and educated at Trinity college, Cambridge, and became a fellow of Emmanuel college, Cambridge, then a stronghold of Puritanism. He was vicar of a church in Boston, Lincolnshire, for 21 years, and when he ceased to observe the ceremonies prescribed by the legally authorized ritual of the English church action was begun against him in court. He escaped, disguised, to London, lay concealed for awhile, then eluded the watch set for him at English ports and emigrated to America, arriving in Boston early in 1633. He was chosen "teacher" of the First Church of Boston, and remained there until his death in 1652. He was termed "The Patriarch of New England," and among his many writings are The Keys to the Kingdom of Heaven and the Power Thereof, The Way of the Churches of Christ in New England, etc. Who was he?

2—Today's motion picture fans won't recognize her, but some of the older ones will. She was born in Milanda, Minn., and educated in a convent in Minneapolis. She began her career in her father's tent show, appeared in stock, and then on the screen. Stella Dallas was her first picture. Mother Machree, Battle of the Sexes, The Iron Mask, Queen of the Burlesque, Reputation, Molly and Me, My Lady's Past, Their Own Desire were others. She was a popular actress in her day. What was her name?

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's program to terminate, or minimize, the federal government's interference with private enterprise through competition or direct participation has gained new momentum and support within the last few weeks, although Roosevelt-Truman "liberals" on and off Capitol Hill still wage a fierce rearguard action against it.

The fact that the movement is far from full achievement does not conceal a fundamental fact. Ike's persistence in trying to get Uncle Sam out of private business and industry testifies to his underlying philosophy. As he has said, he believes in being liberal on social problems, but conservative with respect to economic matters. He has not been completely successful for several reasons, but he is still pitching.

* * *

FAILURES—The reasons for his temporary failures are ironic. Leftwing Democrats oppose his efforts to trim the ship of state to contitutional size and direction. If they succeed in their stalling tactics, they expect to recover all the ground they have lost when they return to power under a Stevenson, a Harriman, a Williams, or somebody now not identified.

Monrovian Garden Club Will Sponsor Spring Flower Show

Tulip Time Is Theme Of Event

The show and dinner, which will be open to the public, will be held Monday in the basement of the Methodist Church at Five Points. Demonstrator and judge for the event will be Mrs. Walter Hughs, regional director of district nine of Ohio Association of Garden Clubs.

Entries are open to any one who wishes to compete. Exhibitors may compete in as many classes as desired, but only one entry to each class. All entries to be in place not later than 5 p. m.

All specimens must be grown by the exhibitor. Foreign foliage is permissable but no greenhouse material may be used. The vases will be classed as part of the arrangement.

The theme for the event is to be: "It's Tulip Time." Artistic arrangement classes will include:

"Welcome Spring", an arrangement of spring flowers for an entrance hall; "Simplicity of Spring", a composition of flowering branches and yellow daffodils; "Its Tulip Time", an arrangement of spring flowers, tulips predominating.

"For Mother's Day", an arangement for dining table by amateur arrangers; "Spring Time", an arrangement in a natural container using wild flowers with foliage; "Small Fry", an arrangement not to exceed eight inches.

"Conversation Piece", an arrangement for a coffee table; "For The Fun Of It", an arrangement using Spring flowers in an unusual container; "When Flowers Are Few", an arrangement of long lasting materials in metal container. and "Spring Time Echo", a composition using fruit blossoms and tulips.

Monrovian Garden Club Will Sponsor Spring Flower Show

Tulip Time Is Theme Of Event

The show and dinner, which will be open to the public, will be held Monday in the basement of the Methodist Church at Five Points. Demonstrator and judge for the event will be Mrs. Walter Hughs, regional director of district nine of Ohio Association of Garden Clubs.

Entries are open to any one who wishes to compete. Exhibitors may compete in as many classes as desired, but only one entry to each class. All entries to be in place not later than 5 p. m.

All specimens must be grown by the exhibitor. Foreign foliage is permissable but no greenhouse material may be used. The vases will be classed as part of the arrangement.

The theme for the event is to be: "It's Tulip Time." Artistic arrangement classes will include:

"Welcome Spring", an arrangement of spring flowers for an entrance hall; "Simplicity of Spring", a composition of flowering branches and yellow daffodils; "Its Tulip Time", an arrangement of spring flowers, tulips predominating.

"For Mother's Day", an arrangement for dining table by amateur arrangers; "Spring Time", an arrangement in a natural container using wild flowers with foliage; "Small Fry", an arrangement not to exceed eight inches.

"Conversation Piece", an arrangement for a coffee table; "For The Fun Of It", an arrangement using Spring flowers in an unusual container; "When Flowers Are Few", an arrangement of long lasting materials in metal container. and "Spring Time Echo", a composition using fruit blossoms and tulips.

Three blooms are to be shown in each specimen class, which will include:

World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

How did the United States get deeply involved with Chiang Kai-shek, with the island of Formosa where he has his Nationalist government, and with the Matsu and Quemoy islands, where he has garrison outposts?

Chiang, boss of China since 1927, was an American ally in World War II. In 1943 at a Cairo conference President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Chiang agreed China should get back Formosa after the defeat of Japan.

Japan had held Formosa since 1895, when the Chinese, then under a monarchy, lost a war with the Japanese and ceded the 200-mile-long island to them. Formosa is 100 miles off the China coast.

So after World War II Chiang occupied Formosa. But the Chinese Communists turned on Chiang in civil war. To help Chiang fight the Communists, the United States gave him two billion dollars in aid between the end of the war and 1949. Nevertheless, he steadily lost ground to the Reds.

On Aug. 5, 1949, the United States washed its hands of Chiang, giving him up as a lost cause, and published a record of its dealings with him. This paper said Chiang's government by its own corruption had lost the loyalty of the Chinese. Secretary of State Dean Acheson said it would be useless for this country to intervene to save him. The Republicans were hot in their criticism of President Truman's handling of Chiang.

On Jan. 5, 1950, Truman said the United States would give Chiang no military aid, direct or indirect. He said the "United States will not pursue a course which will lead to involvement in the civil conflict in China."

Acheson said this meant the United States would keep hands off Formosa. Republicans complained the Democrats were leaving all Asia open to the Communists.

The picture changed June 25, 1950, when the North Korean Communists attacked South Korea. On June 27 Truman announced he would defend Korea and had ordered the 7th fleet to protect Formosa from attack by the Chinese Reds and at the same time to see that Chiang made no attacks on the Red mainland. President Eisenhower revoked the second part of the order Feb. 2, 1953.

The Red Chinese hardened American determination to defend Formosa by entering the Korean War late in 1950. Ever since, it has been American policy to protect Formosa from Red attack. U.S. aid to Chiang has resumed.

On Jan. 24, 1955, President Eisenhower asked Congress for, and got, formal approval to defend Forosa and any related areas, such as Matsu and Quemoy, if he thought they were necessary to the defense of Formosa. He has never said they were necessary. Nor has he ever said they weren't.

On Feb. 9 the U.S. Senate additionally approved a treaty pledging this country to defend Formosa. Meanwhile, the Red Chinese claiming Formosa, Quemoy and Matsu, continued military preparations which may end in attack.

In justifying its support of Chiang before the world, the United States has to consider that problem of ownership of the three islands. Both the Reds and Chiang claim them.

This country does not recognize the Reds as lawful rulers of China. They claim they are and show their possession of the mainland to back up their claim. So they claim that Matsu and Quemoy, which always belonged to China, belong to them.

Chiang says he's rightful boss of China and therefore the islands, including Formosa, belong to his China.

Layer Of Silence Blankets School For 550 Deaf Pupils

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—P. S. 47 looks like any other New York school—weather-worn brick, flush on a busy street between a piano store and a moving company.

But inside, in the first classroom you come to, you notice the difference. It's a nursery, and underneath the surface noise of blaring radio and children banging blocks is a layer of silence.

The only voice you hear is the teacher's, purposefully chattering away as if her small charges could hear every word. If any of them talked back to her, it would be one of the happiest days of her life.

Public School 47 is New York City's school for deaf and hard of hearing children, the largest in the country. It has 550 students, from nursery tots to ninth graders.

Children start in the nursery at 2 years, 8 months.

"That's the time we must start making them conscious of speech," says Mrs. M. Catherine Wilman, assistant principal.

"The first time you realize you've gotten into the child's mentality is when he moves his lips like yours, but doesn't make a sound. It's a great day and you kiss him and make a fuss over him."

In the nursery all activity is on the directed-play level. Banging is encouraged and the radio is on all day at varying degrees of loudness—both for noting the children's reaction.

Teddy bears and dolls scattered around the nursery have hearing aids to help accustom the child to the devices. They are never forced on him. Sometimes the cloth harness containing the battery is worn a month before the second part is fitted in the child's ear.

Hearing aid companies have given the school $10,000 worth of equipment for children up to 5 years. After that age, it's up to the parents to provide them.

This enables P. S. 47 graduates to go on to regular high schools, either trade or academic—and 70 per cent do. In the high schools, special teachers are assigned to watch out for deaf and hard of hearing students.

At P. S. 47, development of manual dexterity is stressed so the youngsters will have skills for making a living. All boys and girls take all shop courses: Typing, cooking, sewing, metal work and carpentry.

Underlying all classroom instruction, however, is the emphasis on teaching the students to speak and to interpret the partial sounds they hear.

What about hand signs?

"We fight them constantly," Mrs. Wilman says, "although some schools over the country are still teaching them. Signs are all right if the children are always going to be with other deaf or hard of hearing people, but they've got to learn to read lips and speak if they're going to be able to get along at all in the outside world."

Solons Propose Curb On Laws

COLUMBUS (AP)—Four state representatives think Ohio has too many laws, and they propose to do something about it.

James Simmons (R - Hamilton), Don Campbell (R-Athens), Floyd Griffin (R-Allen) and Guy Hiner (R -Stark) introduced a resolution in the House proposing no law be approved by the Legislature unless it repealed two others.

The resolution said brakes were needed because "the public is being deluged by an intricate pattern of statutes, amendments, amendments to the amended amendment, appropriations, taxes, licenses, permits, inspections, directives, orders, rulings, findings and real and fancied emergencies."

Truck Traps Man In Ohio River

When fill dirt began to give way beneath his rear wheels, he scurried up on top of the cab. But the truck plunged on into the river, upset and pinned him to the bottom. When rescue workers removed the truck about an hour later, Hazlett was dead.

How did the United States get deeply involved with Chiang Kai-shek, with the island of Formosa where he has his Nationalist government, and with the Matsu and Quemoy islands, where he has garrison outposts?

Chiang, boss of China since 1927, was an American ally in World War II. In 1943 at a Cairo conference President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Chiang agreed China should get back Formosa after the defeat of Japan.

Japan had held Formosa since 1895, when the Chinese, then under a monarchy, lost a war with the Japanese and ceded the 200-mile-long island to them. Formosa is 100 miles off the China coast.

So after World War II Chiang occupied Formosa. But the Chinese Communists turned on Chiang in civil war. To help Chiang fight the Communists, the United States gave him two billion dollars in aid between the end of the war and 1949. Nevertheless, he steadily lost ground to the Reds.

On Aug. 5, 1949, the United States washed its hands of Chiang, giving him up as a lost cause, and published a record of its dealings with him. This paper said Chiang's government by its own corruption had lost the loyalty of the Chinese. Secretary of State Dean Acheson said, it would be useless for this country to intervene to save him. The Republicans were hot in their criticism of President Truman's handling of Chiang.

On Jan. 5, 1950, Truman said the United States would give Chiang no military aid, direct or indirect. He said the "United States will not pursue a course which will lead to involvement in the civil conflict in China."

Acheson said this meant the United States would keep hands off Formosa. Republicans complained the Democrats were leaving all Asia open to the Communists.

The picture changed June 25, 1950, when the North Korean Communists attacked South Korea. On June 27 Truman announced he would defend Korea and had ordered the 7th fleet to protect Formosa from attack by the Chinese Reds and at the same time to see that Chiang made no attacks on the Red mainland. President Eisenhower revoked the second part of the order Feb. 2, 1953.

The Red Chinese hardened American determination to defend Formosa by entering the Korean War late in 1950. Ever since, it has been American policy to protect Formosa from Red attack. U.S. aid to Chiang has resumed.

On Jan. 24, 1955, President Eisenhower asked Congress for, and got, formal approval to defend Forosa and any related areas, such as Matsu and Quemoy, if he thought they were necessary to the defense of Formosa. He has never said they were necessary. Nor has he ever said they weren't.

On Feb. 9 the U.S. Senate additionally approved a treaty pledging this country to defend Formosa. Meanwhile, the Red Chinese claiming Formosa, Quemoy and Matsu, continued military preparations which may end in attack.

In justifying its support of Chiang before the world, the United States has to consider that problem of ownership of the three islands. Both the Reds and Chiang claim them.

This country does not recognize the Reds as lawful rulers of China. They claim they are and show their possession of the mainland to back up their claim. So they claim that Matsu and Quemoy, which always belonged to China, belong to them.

Layer Of Silence Blankets School For 550 Deaf Pupils

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—P. S. 47 looks like any other New York school—weather-worn brick, flush on a busy street between a piano store and a moving company.

But inside, in the first classroom you come to, you notice the difference. It's a nursery, and underneath the surface noise of blaring radio and children banging blocks is a layer of silence.

The only voice you hear is the teacher's, purposefully chattering away as if her small charges could hear every word. If any of them talked back to her, it would be one of the happiest days of her life.

The best she can hope for is a meaningles babble, the beginning of a functional voice.

Public School 47 is New York City's school for deaf and hard of hearing children, the largest in the country. It has 550 students, from nursery tots to ninth graders.

Children start in the nursery at 2 years, 8 months.

"That's the time we must start making them conscious of speech," says Mrs. M. Catherine Wilman, assistant principal.

"The first time you realize you've gotten into the child's mentality is when he moves his lips like yours, but doesn't make a sound. It's a great day and you kiss him and make a fuss over him."

In the nursery all activity is on the directed-play level. Banging is encouraged and the radio is on all day at varying degrees of loudness—both for noting the children's reaction.

Mothers accompany their children to the nursery and stay until the tots can say goodby easily, usually a matter of a few weeks.

Teddy bears and dolls scattered around the nursery have hearing aids to help accustom the child to the devices. They are never forced on him. Sometimes the cloth harness containing the battery is worn a month before the second part is fitted in the child's ear.

Hearing aid companies have given the school $10,000 worth of equipment for children up to 5 years. After that age, it's up to the parents to provide them.

This enables P. S. 47 graduates to go on to regular high schools, either trade or academic—and 70 per cent do. In the high schools, special teachers are assigned to watch out for deaf and hard of hearing students.

FARM NEWS and VIEWS

By R. S. SWENSON, County Agent

DAIRY SERVICE UNIT: The Pickaway County Dairy Service Unit Board of Directors held its regular meeting at the extension office on April 19. Members of the group voted to continue the awards program for junior exhibitors at the 1955 Pickaway County Junior Fair. They voted to require all junior members showing in the Special Artificial Class to fill out information cards on their animals in order to be eligible for prizes.

Mostyn Garrett, chairman of the organization, was elected to represent Pickaway County on the board of The Ohio Dairyman's Association.

Jim Courtright, COBA Technician for Pickaway County, reported that at the present time he has available frozen semen from the following number of bulls in each breed: 7 Holstein, 4 Brown Swiss, 5 Guernsey, and 5 Jersey. All of the breeding work being done in the county at the present time is being done with frozen semen. It enables the dairyman to get a much wider choice of sires.

The chairman appointed committees to meet with the school boards of the county schools which are not in the federal milk program to discuss the possibility of participating.

RURAL LIFE SUNDAY: May 15 will be celebrated throughout the United States as Rural Life Sunday. Promoting the observance in Pickaway County is a committee represented by the Ministerial Association, Soil Conservation Service, Soil Conservation District, and the Extension Service.

It is hoped that county ministers will stress the importance of man's stewardship of the soil in their sermons on Rural Life Sunday.

A meeting of the committee will be held on Tuesday, May 3, 9 a. m.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT: The Soil Conservation District Board voted to cooperate with other agricultural organizations in sponsoring a Conservation Field Day to be held on Wednesday, August 10. The site is yet to be selected. However, it is hoped that it can be held on a farm showing phases of the soil conservation work.

The 4-H Tractor Club has been invited to hold its Annual tractor rodeo on the same date.

The board also voted to sponsor a boy or girl to participate in the Annual Forestry Camp at Tar Hollow State Camp, June 12 to 18. The purpose of the camp is to teach young folks, ages 15 to 19, conservation, forestry, recreation, etc.

FORESTRY TRAINING CAMP: The Ohio Forestry Association announced recently that the Fifth Annual Forestry Training Camp will be held June 12 to 18 at Tar Hollow State Forest. The camp is open to boys and girls who have passed their 15th but not their 19th Birthday on June 12, 1955.

They must also have completed the ninth grade. Boys and girls are asked to contact their school superintendents or our office for more information concerning, cost, enrollment, sponsors, etc.

IFYE: We recently had word in our office that Pickaway County will have the honor of being host to two young men from the Country of Burma, during the period August 7 through October 23. The men are coming here as International Farm Youth Exchange Delegates from their native country.

They will live and work on farms in the county during their stay, learn to know our way of life, and in turn we will learn of their cultural, educational and religious background.

Farm families that would like to serve as host families are asked to contact our office in the near future.

CAMP: Tentative dates for 1955 Pickaway County 4-H Camps are: Senior Camp, Monday, July 25 to Friday, July 29; Junior Camp, Monday, August 1 to Friday, August 5.

It has been tentatively decided to move Men's Camp and Women's Camp to Canters Cave in Jackson County due to the anticipated increased enrollment in the 4-H Division. This switch will enable another 4-H Camp Period to be held at Tar Hollow. Women's Camp is tentatively scheduled for June 24, 25, and 26. Men's Camp is scheduled for July 29, 30, and 31.

Cattle Owners Cautioned On Nitrate Poison

Veterinary authorities warned Pickaway County cattle owners today against the posibility of nitrate poisoning in their herds caused by cattle grazing on green oats that has been fertilized with nitrate fertilizer.

The American Foundation for Animal Health said this is not a new type of poisoning. Cereal crops especially when immature, often contain large amounts of potassium nitrate. Research indicates that oats contained a larger amount than the other cereal crops tested.

Research also showed that the amount of nitrate taken up by a plant is not only influenced by the nitrate content and type of soil but also on climatic conditions. Since the conversion of nitrates to other compounds depends on light; dark, cloudy weather may reduce the light intensity to such an extent that there will be a build up of nitrate content in the plants, even though the nitrate content of the soil may be low.

Symptoms of nitrate poisoning include difficulty in breathing and a type of paralysis causing the animal to go down. Poisoned animals grunt as if they were in pain. Death usually occurs within an hour after the animal goes down.

Prompt diagnosis of the condition, and treatment by a veterinarian is necessary if severe loses are to be avoided, the Foundation concludes.

Bonus, Building Bond Issues May Hit Snag

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A collision of the 100-million-dollar Korean bonus and the 150-million bond issue for state buildings on next November's election ballot could be fatal to both.

Some legislators are expressing that fear already, even before either proposal has been assured a place on the ballot.

They wonder if the people will be willing to add another quarter billion dollars to the state debt only two years after they voted a half-billion-dollar bond issue for arterial highways. They also point to the fact the state still owes more than 100 million dollars on the World War II bonus and that amount won't be paid off until 1964.

The Korean bonus bonds — like their predecessors—would be paid off by a levy on real estate. The bond issue to pay for new mental hospitals and other welfare buildings and for college and school buildings would be repaid from taxes other than those on real estate and personal property and those for highway purposes.

Sponsors of the two bond issues contend the state "owes" a bonus to veterans of the Korean War period because the precedent has been set for such bonuses; that there is a pressing need for new state buildings and a bond issue appears to be the only way to finance them.

Both issues probably would mean new taxes. A special real estate tax for the bonus issue would be automatic. If the state buildings bond issue were to be approved by the voters, the Legislature would return to Columbus next January to figure out what new taxes, if any, were needed to pay off the bonds.

Any present legislative leaning toward new taxes is stymied by the combined oposition of Republican Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) and Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche. If the Legislature finally puts both bond issues on the ballot, it will be passing the question of new taxes directly to the people.

The new taxes question has been in legislators' minds a great deal since January with both school and mental hygiene problems—mostly financial—crying for solution.

Money to solve the immediate needs of both appears to be coming from an increase in liquor prices by the state liquor monoply system. A price boost to produce some 20 million dollars in needed revenue is on its way.

About 10½ millions of that would be used to improve treatment at state mental hospitals and increase the number of technicians and attendants.

The other nine million would cover the increase in the school subsidy fund if the Legislature adopts a new system which would base the subsidy on a "teacher-classroom" unit instead of on the individual child.

If the new system is approved—and that is by no means yet certain—it would be made effective no earlier than Jan. 1, 1957. The delay in the effective date would hold the extra cost for the two-year fiscal period starting next July 1 down to an estimated nine millions.

FARM NEWS and VIEWS

By R. S. SWENSON, County Agent

DAIRY SERVICE UNIT: The Pickaway County Dairy Service Unit Board of Directors held its regular meeting at the extension office on April 19. Members of the group voted to continue the awards program for junior exhibitors at the 1955 Pickaway County Junior Fair. They voted to require all junior members showing in the Special Artificial Class to fill out information cards on their animals in order to be eligible for prizes.

Mostyn Garrett, chairman of the organization, was elected to represent Pickaway County on the board of The Ohio Dairyman's Association.

Jim Courtright, COBA Technician for Pickaway County, reported that at the present time he has available frozen semen from the following number of bulls in each breed: 7 Holstein, 4 Brown Swiss, 5 Guernsey, and 5 Jersey. All of the breeding work being done in the county at the present time is being done with frozen semen. It enables the dairyman to get a much wider choice of sires.

The chairman appointed committees to meet with the school boards of the county schools which are not in the federal milk program to discuss the possibility of participating.

RURAL LIFE SUNDAY: May 15 will be celebrated throughout the United States as Rural Life Sunday. Promoting the observance in Pickaway County is a committee represented by the Ministerial Association, Soil Conservation Service, Soil Conservation District, and the Extension Service.

It is hoped that county ministers will stress the importance of man's stewardship of the soil in their sermons on Rural Life Sunday.

A meeting of the committee will be held on Tuesday, May 3, 9 a. m.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT: The Soil Conservation District Board voted to cooperate with other agricultural organizations in sponsoring a Conservation Field Day to be held on Wednesday, August 10. The site is yet to be selected. However, it is hoped that it can be held on a farm showing phases of the soil conservation work.

The 4-H Tractor Club has been invited to hold its Annual tractor rodeo on the same date.

The board also voted to sponsor a boy or girl to participate in the Annual Forestry Camp at Tar Hollow State Camp, June 12 to 18. The purpose of the camp is to teach young folks, ages 15 to 19, conservation, forestry, recreation, etc.

FORESTRY TRAINING CAMP: The Ohio Forestry Association announced recently that the Fifth Annual Forestry Training Camp will be held June 12 to 18 at Tar Hollow State Forest. The camp is open to boys and girls who have passed their 15th but not their 19th Birthday on June 12, 1955.

They must also have completed the ninth grade. Boys and girls are asked to contact their school superintendents or our office for more information concerning, cost, enrollment, sponsors, etc.

IFYE: We recently had word in our office that Pickaway County will have the honor of being host to two young men from the Country of Burma, during the period August 7 through October 23. The men are coming here as International Farm Youth Exchange Delegates from their native country.

They will live and work on farms in the county during their stay, learn to know our way of life, and in turn we will learn of their cultural, educational and religious background.

Farm families that would like to serve as host families are asked to contact our office in the near future.

CAMP: Tentative dates for 1955 Pickaway County 4-H Camps are: Senior Camp, Monday, July 25 to Friday, July 29; Junior Camp, Monday, August 1 to Friday, August 5.

It has been tentatively decided to move Men's Camp and Women's Camp to Canters Cave in Jackson County due to the anticipated increased enrollment in the 4-H Division. This switch will enable another 4-H Camp Period to be held at Tar Hollow. Women's Camp is tentatively scheduled for June 24, 25, and 26. Men's Camp is scheduled for July 29, 30, and 31.

Cattle Owners Cautioned On Nitrate Poison

Veterinary authorities warned Pickaway County cattle owners today against the posibility of nitrate poisoning in their herds caused by cattle grazing on green oats that has been fertilized with nitrate fertilizer.

The American Foundation for Animal Health said this is not a new type of poisoning. Cereal crops especially when immature, often contain large amounts of potassium nitrate. Research indicates that oats contained a larger amount than the other cereal crops tested.

Research also showed that the amount of nitrate taken up by a plant is not only influenced by the nitrate content and type of soil but also on climatic conditions. Since the conversion of nitrates to other compounds depends on light; dark, cloudy weather may reduce the light intensity to such an extent that there will be a build up of nitrate content in the plants, even though the nitrate content of the soil may be low.

Symptoms of nitrate poisoning include difficulty in breathing and a type of paralysis causing the animal to go down. Poisoned animals grunt as if they were in pain. Death usually occurs within an hour after the animal goes down.

Prompt diagnosis of the condition, and treatment by a veterinarian is necessary if severe loses are to be avoided, the Foundation concludes.

Bonus, Building Bond Issues May Hit Snag

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A collision of the 100-million-dollar Korean bonus and the 150-million bond issue for state buildings on next November's election ballot could be fatal to both.

Some legislators are expressing that fear already, even before either proposal has been assured a place on the ballot.

They wonder if the people will be willing to add another quarter billion dollars to the state debt only two years after they voted a half-billion-dollar bond issue for arterial highways. They also point to the fact the state still owes more than 100 million dollars on the World War II bonus and that amount won't be paid off until 1964.

The Korean bonus bonds — like their predecessors—would be paid off by a levy on real estate. The bond issue to pay for new mental hospitals and other welfare buildings and for college and school buildings would be repaid from taxes other than those on real estate and personal property and those for highway purposes.

Sponsors of the two bond issues contend the state "owes" a bonus to veterans of the Korean War period because the precedent has been set for such bonuses; that there is a pressing need for new state buildings and a bond issue appears to be the only way to finance them.

Both issues probably would mean new taxes. A special real estate tax for the bonus issue would be automatic. If the state buildings bond issue were to be approved by the voters, the Legislature would return to Columbus next January to figure out what new taxes, if any, were needed to pay off the bonds.

Any present legislative leaning toward new taxes is stymied by the combined oposition of Republican Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) and Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche. If the Legislature finally puts both bond issues on the ballot, it will be passing the question of new taxes directly to the people.

The new taxes question has been in legislators' minds a great deal since January with both school and mental hygiene problems—mostly financial—crying for solution.

Money to solve the immediate needs of both appears to be coming from an increase in liquor prices by the state liquor monoply system. A price boost to produce some 20 million dollars in needed revenue is on its way.

About 10½ millions of that would be used to improve treatment at state mental hospitals and increase the number of technicians and attendants.

The other nine million would cover the increase in the school subsidy fund if the Legislature adopts a new system which would base the subsidy on a "teacher-classroom" unit instead of on the individual child.

If the new system is approved—and that is by no means yet certain—it would be made effective no earlier than Jan. 1, 1957. The delay in the effective date would hold the extra cost for the two-year fiscal period starting next July 1 down to an estimated nine millions.

Hoeft Showing Detroit Way To Hot Streak

Lefty Billy Chalks Win Over Nats; Tigers Run Close To Indians

The Associated Press

Billy Hoeft, a lefty who has lost twice as many as he's won for Detroit in the past, told Manager Bucky Harris this spring that this is the season he becomes a winner. "Show me," said Harris.

So far, the kid's been showing him plenty. And since he started winning, the Tigers have been unbeatable, riding a five-game winning streak to within half a game of the American League lead.

It was Hoeft, a 22-year-old with three major league seasons behind him, who started the streak, shutting out the defending champion Cleveland Indians 3-0 on three hits last Saturday. And it was Hoeft again last night as the Tigers won No. 5, beating the Washington Senators 4-1.

Hoeft whittled his earned run average down to 0.95, with Washington's lone tally unearned. He walked only one and struck out six.

Except for some shabby fielding and wild pitching by the Kansas City Athletics last night, the Tigers would be in first place today with Cleveland instead of sharing second with the Indians. The A's failures allowed the New York Yankees an 11-4 triumph and with it the Bombers jumped back into the lead.

Chicago's White Sox tumbled out of first in a day game, losing to Boston and Van Delock, who spun a three-hitter for a 3-1 victory. Cleveland and Baltimore were idle.

The Braves were beaten by Willie Jones' homer in the ninth last night at Philadelphia 3-2. Cincinnati broke up a six-game losing streak 3-2 at Pittsburgh under the lights and New York's Giants beat St. Louis 6-4 at the Polo Grounds.

The Toronto Maple Leafs keep winning, but they can't make headway against Havana's Sugar Kings who are clinging doggedly to first place in the International League pennant race.

The Leafs, who now have won five in a row, topped Syracuse, 5-1, last night to stay within half a game of the Havana club, which shutout Buffalo in an afternoon contest, 6-0.

The Royals' southpaw ace faced only 28 batters. His teammates took advantage of five Richmond errors to pile up a 10-0 triumph—to the delight of 11,209 Montrealers who turned out for opening day.

Ralph Branca, the former major leaguer now with Minneapolis, tamed Toledo on a five-hitter and dropped the Sox into a tie with Louisville for the American Association lead last night.

The Millers triumphed, 7-2, as Branca fanned eight and posted his second mound victory of the season. Louisville was idle, as was Omaha.

It also was a pitchers' night elsewhere about the league as Denver beat Indianapolis, 3-1, and Charleston shaded St. Paul, 3-2.

Jaycee Harness Race Meet Set Sunday At Fairgrounds

A Jaycee Harness Race Matinee will be held Sunday at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds starting at 1:30 p. m.

Many attractions will feature the colorful events. All proceeds will go towards the building of a new grandstand, a major project by the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Hall-Adkins Post 134 American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps will be on hand to give some of their colorful demonstrations of playing and maneuvering.

Last year, the local jaycees raised $500 towards the fund for the grandstand. This is part of their "five-year" plan to convince Fair Board members that funds can be raised for the project.

* * *

THE GRANDSTAND which presently adorns the Fairgrounds track is an eyesore. There is no permanent cover and no toilet facilities there.

Judging from the crowds which witnessed the harness races at the County Fair last Fall, Sunday's turnout should be large and enthusiastic. The show put on by the 'Gladiators", the Drum and Bugle Corps' new nickname, will definitely add to the gayety.

Many well known entries will be featured and are listed below. In addition, the famed mobile starting gate will be used, lending the professional touch.

Although the present weather forecasts show no signs of rain for Sunday, a "rain date" has nevertheless been set. In case of rain or for any other reason the meet is postponed, it will be run the following Sunday, May 8.

ABC Tournament Now Half Over

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Bowling shifts returned to normal at the American Bowling Congress tournament today after the lightest day of the meet yesterday.

The reason for yesterday's inactivity can be traced to the ABC's annual custom of partially refinishing the alleys at the tourney's halfway mark. This occupied the 38 alleys until late afternoon when a booster squad took over, followed by an open division group.

Coach Dick Bartell of the Redlegs played in three World Series. In 1936 and 1937 he played shortstop for the Giants and in 1940 he played short for the Tigers.

Walter Johnson led the American League in strikeouts for 12 seasons.

Vejar Favorite To Top Melis

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Chico Vejar, the fighting collegian, is a 3-1 favorite to beat Italy's Paolo Melis tonight and stretch his latest unbeaten string to 10.

The two welterweights meet in a 10-rounder to be telecast at 9 p. m., EST.

This is Vejar's second straight TV bout here. The 23 - year - old NYU dramatic student from Stamford, Conn., outpointed Billy Graham for the second time April 1. In his last nine scraps, he won eight and drew in the other.

Garcia Slated To Meet His Oriole Cousins

More than a quarter of big Mike's 129 victories last season were against the hapless last place Marylanders. Garcia, who finished 1954 with a 19-8 record, beat the Orioles five times, lost only once.

The right-hander won his first start of this season April 14 at Detroit, but since then has been set back twice—in relief at Kansas City 10 days ago and in a game he started at Detroit Saturday.

Another Indian trying to find himself before the season gets too far along is Ralph Kiner, the former National League home run king. Kiner, who came to Cleveland from the Chicago Cubs, has failed to hit in his last 16 chances.

Opposing Garcia will be Baltimore's Harry Byrd, a former New York Yankee, who has a 1-0 record for this season. He beat the Washington Nats Sunday, 3-0, giving up only three hits. Byrd had a 9-7 record last season at New York.

Manager Al Lopez held a long batting practice yesterday, when the Tribe had an open date. The manager is trying to get some zip in the Indian attack to make up for the loss of Vic Wertz.

COME ON IN—

UNLESS we miss our guess, a lot of surprised people are going to do some new back-of-an-envelope arithmetic when they see the Buick price shown here.

Because we know that many folks still don't realize how little a Buick really costs—that the dollar difference between this big Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan and the leading smaller cars has virtually disappeared.

Buick Sales Are Soaring As Never Before

But more and more of them are finding it out. And that's a major reason why Buick production and Buick sales are soaring to all-time highs today—and why Buick again is outselling all other cars, regardless of price range, except two of the well-known smaller cars.

Big reason, too, for this soaring popularity is Buick's full line of automobiles, giving you a choice in any price class—the rock-bottom-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the supremely spacious SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

But above all, more and more people are discovering that the price you pay for a Buick buys more sheer automobile than the same money buys elsewhere.

For here you get Variable Pitch Dynaflow†—the new wonder drive born of modern aeronautics to give you instant full-power getaway and acceleration when needed—and far better gas mileage when cruising.

Why not come see us this week, for sure? We'll be happy to have you test-pilot a new Buick, just for the sheer thrill of it—and show you quite clearly that if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.

HONORED by the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers Association as the outstanding player of the 1954 World Series, Dusty Rhodes of the Giants holds the award, emblematic of the honor. (Note face mirrored in plaque.) (International)

ABC Tournament Now Half Over

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Bowling shifts returned to normal at the American Bowling Congress tournament today after the lightest day of the meet yesterday.

The reason for yesterday's inactivity can be traced to the ABC's annual custom of partially refinishing the alleys at the tourney's halfway mark. This occupied the 38 alleys until late afternoon when a booster squad took over, followed by an open division group.

Consequently, the various leaders had little difficulty maintaining their top spots.

Coach Dick Bartell of the Redlegs played in three World Series. In 1936 and 1937 he played shortstop for the Giants and in 1940 he played short for the Tigers.

Walter Johnson led the American League in strikeouts for 12 seasons.

Vejar Favorite To Top Melis

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Chico Vejar, the fighting collegian, is a 3-1 favorite to beat Italy's Paolo Melis tonight and stretch his latest unbeaten string to 10.

The two welterweights meet in a 10-rounder to be telecast at 9 p. m., EST.

This is Vejar's second straight TV bout here. The 23 - year - old NYU dramatic student from Stamford, Conn., outpointed Billy Graham for the second time April 1. In his last nine scraps, he won eight and drew in the other.

Garcia Slated To Meet His Oriole Cousins

More than a quarter of big Mike's 29 victories last season were against the hapless last place Marylanders. Garcia, who finished 1954 with a 19-8 record, beat the Orioles five times, lost only once.

The right-hander won his first start of this season April 14 at Detroit, but since then has been set back twice—in relief at Kansas City 10 days ago and in a game he started at Detroit Saturday.

Another Indian trying to find himself before the season gets too far along is Ralph Kiner, the former National League home run king. Kiner, who came to Cleveland from the Chicago Cubs, has failed to hit in his last 16 chances.

Opposing Garcia will be Baltimore's Harry Byrd, a former New York Yankee, who has a 1-0 record for this season. He beat the Washington Nats Sunday, 3-0, giving up only three hits. Byrd had a 9-7 record last season at New York.

Manager Al Lopez held a long batting practice yesterday, when the Tribe had an open date. The manager is trying to get some zip in the Indian attack to make up for the loss of Vic Wertz.

HOTTEST-SELLING BUICK IN HISTORY
No wonder you see so many '55 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever before in history—topping the popularity that has already made Buick one of the "Big Three" of America's best sellers.

*2-door, 6-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster.....$81.70 Radio & Antenna.....$92.50

UNLESS we miss our guess, a lot of surprised people are going to do some new back-of-an-envelope arithmetic when they see the Buick price shown here.

Because we know that many folks still don't realize how little a Buick really costs—that the dollar difference between this big Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan and the leading smaller cars has virtually disappeared.

Buick Sales Are Soaring As Never Before

But more and more of them are finding it out. And that's a major reason why Buick production and Buick sales are soaring to all-time highs today—and why Buick again is outselling all other cars, regardless of price range, except two of the well-known smaller cars.

Big reason, too, for this soaring popularity is Buick's full line of automobiles, giving you a choice in any price class—the rock-bottom-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the supremely spacious SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

But above all, more and more people are discovering that the price you pay for a Buick buys more sheer automobile than the same money buys elsewhere.

More advanced styling, more deep-down comfort, more pure power thrill, more ride steadiness and handling ease and solidity of structure.

For here you get Variable Pitch Dynaflow†—the new wonder drive born of modern aeronautics to give you instant full-power getaway and acceleration when needed—and far better gas mileage when cruising.

Why not come see us this week, for sure? We'll be happy to have you test-pilot a new Buick, just for the sheer thrill of it—and show you quite clearly that if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.

Mansfield Due To Defend Relays Title

DELAWARE (AP) — Mansfield's Tygers and Cleveland East Tech's Scarabs are favored to fight it out tomorrow for the championship in Ohio Wesleyan's high school track-field relays.

Mansfield is defending champion in the 24th running of the unusual competition inaugurated in 1932 by Athletic Director George E. Gauthier, but East Tech defeated the Tygers 37 to 27 last Saturday in Mansfield's own cinder carnival. East Tech has won here six times.

All events in the Delaware classics are on a team basis. All races are four-man relays, and the total performances of three from each school will determine winners in field events.

The annual classic has attracted 27 Class A schools and 43 in Class B for Saturday's renewal, assuring more than 1,000 athletes will perform. Xenia Woodrow Wilson will be after its third straight title in Class B. Brecksville was runnerup a year ago among small schools.

The program consists of the 440-yard relay, 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay, distance medley relay, shot put, mile relay, discus, sprint medley relay, broadjump, two-mile relay, 880-yard relay, pole vault and highjump in both classes.

Ohio Wesleyan Dramatist Wins Meet In Lone Entry

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Many of Shakespear's characters carry a spear, but Ohio Wesleyan University has a senior theater student—a devotee of the immortal bard—who throws one.

A week ago Track Coach George Gauthier of the Bishops had a dual meet on tap with Albion College at Albion, Mich. He learned that the javelin throw—an obsolete event in Ohio—was on the menu. He had no entry for that competition.

Then one of his athletes recalled that Al Foster of East Orange, N. J., had tossed the spear in high school. Foster, majoring in theatricals, had shunned athletics in college.

But Gauthier prevailed on the youngster to come out, just for the Albion clash. Foster complied, and came up with a 159-foot 2-inch toss good for second place.

As soon as his event was completed a waiting auto whisked him the 230 miles back to Delaware where he arrived 10 minutes before walking on the state as "Sebastian" in Wesleyan's production of Shakespear's "The Tempest."

Oh, yeah! The three points Foster picked up in his one and only appearance as a college athlete won the track meet for Wesleyan. The score: 69 to 67.

Don (Butch) Zimmerman, Dayton Chaminade's left-handed all-Ohio scholastic quarterback, has been named the No. 1 signal-caller for the Dayton U. Flyers in their spring grid game the night of May 6. Zimmerman is a freshman at the Gem City university.

The Ohio Public Links Golf Association has changed the dates for its state tournament to July 21, 22 and 23 at Barberton Brookside Course. The pay-as-you-go event originally was slated a week earlier, but the dates conflicted with those of the Ohio Amateur, Ohio Open and Ohio Women's championships.

The Kiwanis high school golf tournament, formerly the Tri-State, is slated May 6 at Potter's Park golf club in Hamilton. Upper Arlington won the 16th tournament last year with a four-man score of 306, with Jack Nicklaus of the victors taking low individual laurels with 68. The meet is open to all high schools in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

Redlegs Poke Nose Out Of League Cellar

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs today are breathing seventh place air in the National League but the manner in which they escaped the loop's basement last night was nothing to bring great cheers.

The victory, which moved Cincinnati from eighth to seventh and Pittsburgh from seventh to eighth, was recorded over the woe-begone Pirates by a 3-2 margin.

In addition, it was an uphill struggle as the Redlegs hitters again failed to hit except for Ray Jablonski and Johnny Temple. Those two players accounted for all five of the Cincinnati hits and Jablonski drove in all three runs.

It was a good thing Jablonski's bat was functioning, too, or he would have been the "goat." His seventh inning error allowed Pittsburgh to take a 2-1 lead.

Even Cincinnati's seventh-place position is a bit tainted. The Redlegs stand 9½ games behind the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers while the Pirates are only nine games back. A difference in the number of games played gives the Cincinnatians a higher percentage mark, however.

The best thing that could be said about the Redleg play was that the pitching was excellent. Gerry Staley and Jerry Dean collaborated in holding the Pirates to five hits.

Santee Pointing To Miracle Mile

DES MOINES (AP)—That elusive American four-minute mile may come from Wes Santee's long legs tomorrow.

Thwarted by only the thinnest of time margins in the past, the former University of Kansas distance runner may achieve his goal in an invitational mile, the feature attraction of the final day of the Drake Relays.

Santee raced to an American record of 4:00.5 at the Texas Relays this spring.

Running against Wes will be former teammate Art Dalzell, who has served as a pacesetter for Santee in previous mile runs; and Fred Dwyer, formerly of Villanova, who beat Santee in the Millrose Games with a 4:06.2 race.

Mansfield Due To Defend Relays Title

DELAWARE (AP) — Mansfield's Tygers and Cleveland East Tech's Scarabs are favored to fight it out tomorrow for the championship in Ohio Wesleyan's high school track-field relays.

Mansfield is defending champion in the 24th running of the unusual competition inaugurated in 1932 by Athletic Director George E. Gauthier, but East Tech defeated the Tygers 37 to 27 last Saturday in Mansfield's own cinder carnival. East Tech has won here six times.

All events in the Delaware classics are on a team basis. All races are four-man relays, and the total performances of three from each school will determine winners in field events.

The annual classic has attracted 27 Class A schools and 43 in Class B for Saturday's renewal, assuring more than 1,000 athletes will perform. Xenia Woodrow Wilson will be after its third straight title in Class B. Brecksville was runnerup a year ago among small schools.

The program consists of the 440-yard relay, 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay, distance medley relay, shot put, mile relay, discus, sprint medley relay, broadjump, two-mile relay, 880-yard relay, pole vault and highjump in both classes.

Trials and preliminaries are scheduled in the morning, with all finals in the afternoon.

Ohio Wesleyan Dramatist Wins Meet In Lone Entry

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Many of Shakespear's characters carry a spear, but Ohio Wesleyan University has a senior theater student—a devotee of the immortal bard—who throws one.

A week ago Track Coach George Gauthier of the Bishops had a dual meet on tap with Albion College at Albion, Mich. He learned that the javelin throw—an obsolete event in Ohio—was on the menu. He had no entry for that competition.

Then one of his athletes recalled that Al Foster of East Orange, N. J., had tossed the spear in high school. Foster, majoring in theatricals, had shunned athletics in college.

But Gauthier prevailed on the youngster to come out, just for the Albion clash. Foster complied, and came up with a 159-foot 2-inch toss good for second place.

As soon as his event was completed a waiting auto whisked him the 230 miles back to Delaware where he arrived 10 minutes before walking on the state as "Sebastian" in Wesleyan's production of Shakespear's "The Tempest."

Oh, yeah! The three points Foster picked up in his one and only appearance as a college athlete won the track meet for Wesleyan. The score: 69 to 67.

From here and there:

Don (Butch) Zimmerman, Dayton Chaminade's left-handed all-Ohio scholastic quarterback, has been named the No. 1 signal-caller for the Dayton U. Flyers in their spring grid game the night of May 6. Zimmerman is a freshman at the Gem City university.

The Ohio Public Links Golf Association has changed the dates for its state tournament to July 21, 22 and 23 at Barberton Brookside Course. The pay-as-you-go event originally was slated a week earlier, but the dates conflicted with those of the Ohio Amateur, Ohio Open and Ohio Women's championships.

The Kiwanis high school golf tournament, formerly the Tri-State, is slated May 6 at Potter's Park golf club in Hamilton. Upper Arlington won the 16th tournament last year with a four-man score of 306, with Jack Nicklaus of the victors taking low individual laurels with 68. The meet is open to all high schools in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

It isn't sports, but Pete Minego, the veteran sports scribe of the Portsmouth Times, observes:

Redlegs Poke Nose Out Of League Cellar

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs today are breathing seventh place air in the National League but the manner in which they escaped the loop's basement last night was nothing to bring great cheers.

The victory, which moved Cincinnati from eighth to seventh and Pittsburgh from seventh to eighth, was recorded over the woe-begone Pirates by a 3-2 margin.

In addition, it was an uphill struggle as the Redlegs hitters again failed to hit except for Ray Jablonski and Johnny Temple. Those two players accounted for all five of the Cincinnati hits and Jablonski drove in all three runs.

It was a good thing Jablonski's bat was functioning, too, or he would have been the "goat." His seventh inning error allowed Pittsburgh to take a 2-1 lead.

Even Cincinnati's seventh-place position is a bit tainted. The Redlegs stand 9½ games behind the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers while the Pirates are only nine games back. A difference in the number of games played gives the Cincinnatians a higher percentage mark, however.

The best thing that could be said about the Redleg play was that the pitching was excellent. Gerry Staley and Jerry Dean collaborated in holding the Pirates to five hits.

Santee Pointing To Miracle Mile

DES MOINES (AP)—That elusive American four-minute mile may come from Wes Santee's long legs tomorrow.

Thwarted by only the thinnest of time margins in the past, the former University of Kansas distance runner may achieve his goal in an invitational mile, the feature attraction of the final day of the Drake Relays.

Santee raced to an American record of 4:00.5 at the Texas Relays this spring.

Running against Wes will be former teammate Art Dalzell, who has served as a pacesetter for Santee in previous mile runs; and Fred Dwyer, formerly of Villanova, who beat Santee in the Millrose Games with a 4:06.2 race.

HOTELS USE FOAM TO CLEAN CARPETS

Hotel managers say foam cleaner such as Fina Foam does the job quicker and better than any other kind. Fina Foam is easier to use, leaves nap fluffy and brings the colors back like new.

With the new Fina Foam, you clean your wall-to-wall carpeting standing up, easily with a long nandle brush, and it's ready for use in a few hours. It's economical, too. A gallon of concentrate for $2.25 makes three gallons of solution, enough for three 9x12 rugs. Get Fina Foam at

Hotel managers say foam cleaner such as Fina Foam does the job quicker and better than any other kind. Fina Foam is easier to use, leaves nap fluffy and brings the colors back like new.

With the new Fina Foam, you clean your wall-to-wall carpeting standing up, easily with a long nandle brush, and it's ready for use in a few hours. It's economical, too. A gallon of concentrate for $2.25 makes three gallons of solution, enough for three 9x12 rugs. Get Fina Foam at

No Overpayment Of 2 Buses Found At Walnut Twp. School

State Examiner Made Charge In Early Report

School Board Clerk Proves Accusation Falsely Founded

(Second in a Series)

(In the first article, George McDowell, county superintendent of schools, explained in detail a report of the indebtedness of Pickaway County schools. In this article, which is the second part of a report revealed by him, he explains a situation in Walnut Township concerning the purchase of two school buses.)

* * *

C. R. Acton, state examiner in the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, recently indicated that Walnut Township may have made an overpayment of $1,200 in the purchase of two school buses in 1948.

However, upon an investigation of the records of Mrs. Esther Duvall, clerk of the Walnut Township Board of Education, Acton has retracted his finding.

In a letter to McDowell, Acton says that ". . .I feel convinced (now) that no overpayment was made on the bus deals in question.

"It appears that the examiner who preceded me erred and set up the wrong amount unpaid as of the close of his examination.

* * *

"IN MY REPORT. . .I suggested that this should be investigated . . . .Mrs. Duvall made this investigation, for which she is commended, and I am satisfied that no overpayment was made.

Mrs. Duvall, upon thorough investigation, met with Acton, McDowell and Howard Hosler, superintendent of Walnut Township School. She presented the following facts:

The two buses were purchased at a regular meeting of the school board on April 26, 1948. Purchase price for each was $3,600.

Payments were as follows: December 1948, $600; February 1949, $600; July 1949, $600; November 1949, $600; July 1950, $1,200; July 1951, $600; January 1952, $2,400; and May 1952, $600.

* * *

THIS TOTALLED $7,200 for the two buses.

In his original report, examiner Acton had said that apparently there had been two $600 overpayments and asked that an immediate investigation be held. This was done, with the results listed above.

Acton's report, for the rest of his examination, praised the county school boards of education on the way they kept their records. Although there were some minor inconsistencies, for the most part the county was rated well above average.

Air Force Plans Midwest Building

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force plans to avoid both coasts, and existing industrial concentrations as well, in locating production plants for its big guided missile program.

Secretary Harold Talbott said he has "no idea of decreasing aircraft activity, contracts or employment on either coast," but added that the Air Force wants "further expansion or ducts to be moved, probably to the Middle West." He said:

"If we were being attacked by Russian bombers I would rather be in St. Louis than in Seattle, Wash., or Hartford, Conn."

School Notes

CIRCLEVILLE HIGH

Once again the music department of Circleville High School is preparing for the annual Spring Concert. The program will begin at 8 p. m. next Tuesday in the high school auditorium.

For approximately 32 years this has been a part of the high school's Spring program. More than 250 students will participate.

Research through old annuals and the Circleville Heralds of previous years has turned up many facts not many of the students know.

For instance-the choir is the oldest of these musical groups. Miss Helen Wittick was its first director. This was back in 1918-the first year the present high school building was occupied.

A year after the choir was organized, the orchestra came into being. It was directed by C. F. Zaenglien who also played the cornet. This group had only 12 members. In those early days, as now, the orchestra played for Commencement, at class play productions, and at the Spring concerts.

Then in January 1931, Zaenglein organized the first Circleville High School Band. There were 67 members. Each year since then the band has played in concerts, marched in parades both at home and at out-of-town celebrations. This year's band has 75 members under Eberly's direction.

From year to year new instruments have been added. This year there are two new Scotch bass drums and two sousaphones.

To train players for the high school band, a junior band was organized. This group takes part in the Spring concert and formerly marched in the Pumpkin Show and Decoration Day parades.

Back in 1932, there was a beginners' band made up mostly of grade children. During recent years it was discontinued.

One of the most active music organizations at CHS is the girls' sextette. Since 1948, we have had this group, which sings at concerts, in competition, and for various local clubs.

JACKSON TOWNSHIP

Theme of the story centers on a group of teen-agers who work to set up a "Teen-Haven". They finally succeed, but not before they surmount a variety of problems.

VFW Prize Awarded

Linguist, 74, Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Ethel Vaughan, former head of the romance language department at Northwestern University, died of a heart attack yesterday in Olmsted Falls. She was 74.

Ike To Run, Hope

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland said last night "I kinda have a hunch" President Eisenhower will run in 1956. "Lord help us if he doesn't run," he added.

Airport Bill Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Monroney (D-Okla) has introduced a bill to provide 63 million dollars in federal grants annually for the next four years for airport construction. The administration has asked 11½ million for next year.

Mrs. Duvall, upon thorough investigation, met with Acton, McDowell and Howard Hosler, superintendent of Walnut Township School. She presented the following facts:

The two buses were purchased at a regular meeting of the school board on April 26, 1948. Purchase price for each was $3,600.

Payments were as follows: December 1948, $600; February 1949, $600; July 1949, $600; November 1949, $600; July 1950, $1,200; July 1951, $600; January 1952, $2,400; and May 1952, $600.

THIS TOTALLED $7,200 for the two buses.

In his original report, examiner Acton had said that apparently there had been two $600 overpayments and asked that an immediate investigation be held. This was done, with the results listed above.

Acton's report, for the rest of his examination, praised the county school boards of education on the way they kept their records. Although there were some minor inconsistencies, for the most part the county was rated well above average.

Air Force Plans Midwest Building

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force plans to avoid both coasts, and existing industrial concentrations as well, in locating production plants for its big guided missile program.

Secretary Harold Talbott said he has "no idea of decreasing aircraft activity, contracts or employment on either coast," but added that the Air Force wants "further expansion or ducts to be moved, probably to the Middle West." He said:

"If we were being attacked by Russian bombers I would rather be in St. Louis than in Seattle, Wash., or Hartford, Conn."

School Notes

CIRCLEVILLE HIGH

Once again the music department of Circleville High School is preparing for the annual Spring Concert. The program will begin at 8 p. m. next Tuesday in the high school auditorium.

For approximately 32 years this has been a part of the high school's Spring program. More than 250 students will participate.

Research through old annuals and the Circleville Heralds of previous years has turned up many facts not many of the students know.

For instance-the choir is the oldest of these musical groups. Miss Helen Wittick was its first director. This was back in 1918-the first year the present high school building was occupied.

This year the choir, directed by Truman Eberly, has 92 members.

A year after the choir was organized, the orchestra came into being. It was directed by C. F. Zaenglien who also played the cornet. This group had only 12 members. In those early days, as now, the orchestra played for Commencement, at class play productions, and at the Spring concerts.

Then in January 1931, Zaenglein organized the first Circleville High School Band. There were 67 members. Each year since then the band has played in concerts, marched in parades both at home and at out-of-town celebrations. This year's band has 75 members under Eberly's direction.

From year to year new instruments have been added. This year there are two new Scotch bass drums and two sousaphones.

To train players for the high school band, a junior band was organized. This group takes part in the Spring concert and formerly marched in the Pumpkin Show and Decoration Day parades.

Back in 1932, there was a beginners' band made up mostly of grade children. During recent years it was discontinued.

One of the most active music organizations at CHS is the girls' sextette. Since 1948, we have had this group, which sings at concerts, in competition, and for various local clubs.

JACKSON TOWNSHIP

The junior class play will be presented at 8 p. m. next Tuesday in the Jackson Township High School auditorium.

Theme of the story centers on a group of teen-agers who work to set up a "Teen-Haven". They finally succeed, but not before they surmount a variety of problems.

Meat Probe Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Hebert (D-La) says a House committee intends to investigate a report by the Hoover Commission that the Navy has stockpiled a 60-year supply of hamburger. The Navy says the stockpile is not nearly that large.

French is the official language of Haiti.

Airport Bill Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Monroney (D-Okla) has introduced a bill to provide 63 million dollars in federal grants annually for the next four years for airport construction. The administration has asked 11½ million for next year.

VFW Prize Awarded

Linguist, 74, Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Ethel Vaughan, former head of the romance language department at Northwestern University, died of a heart attack yesterday in Olmsted Falls. She was 74.

Ike To Run, Hope

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland said last night "I kinda have a hunch" President Eisenhower will run in 1956. "Lord help us if he doesn't run," he added.
